BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Oklahoma City, September 20.—
Sensational testimony exposing the alleged inner workings of the Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma City and designed to show that the secret organization has directed mob violence was made public tonight by Governor J. C. Walton.

The testimony was taken by the military court sitting here, and was given out by the governor "that the people may know the purposes" of the Klan.

As a preface to the statement, Governor Walton declared the burden of the fight against the Klan had fallen upon himself and upon Aldrich Blake, his counselor, making it necessary for him to appeal for financial aid.

"Every effort is being made to cripple us financially so that we cannot continue to fight," the governor said.

"I call upon the people who believe in a representative form of government immediately to assist us financially and to make all remittance to Mrs. Aldrich Blake, Oklahoma City, Okla. Aldrich Blake himself is absent from the city at this time and probably will be for some days."

Has Crossed Rubicon.
"So far as I am concerned," Governor Walton declared, "I have crossed the Rubicon and it is a fight to the finish."

"Jewett (N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the Oklahoma realm of the Klan) and his 'invisible empire' shall not pass in this state.

"If necessary I shall arm every man in this state who is opposed to his empire."

The section of the military court record made public was the testimony of Dr. A. A. Maupin, a dentist, who stated that he joined the Klan in April, 1920. In addition, a portion of the testimony of three Oklahoma county officials was given out.

Judge Took Obligation.

District Judge George W. Clark, who summoned a special grand jury to investigate the charge that Governor Walton illegally had used state employees to check names on an initiative petition, testified that he was initiated in the Klan a year ago last May. He said he never had attended a meeting or paid dues and had not considered himself a member of the organization for nearly a year.

have to be devoted in its entirety to building the new Girls' High school.

No Estimates Available.

No estimates on the needs of College Park and East Point schools were available Thursday, but both systems were said to be so situated that additional funds could be put to good use.

In discussing probable apportionment of the school tax money, members of the commission stated that there would be a question as to the legality of Atlanta's apportionment because parts of Atlanta are in De Kalb county. It was said unofficially, however, that this condition could be met by keeping an auxiliary system of books in the school department to make the county funds apply only to maintenance of the part of the school system which is in Fulton county.

Tax of Eleven Mills.

The total tax rate of the county, as fixed by the commission, will be 11 mills on the dollar, or $1.10 on the $100 of tax valuation. The state tax rate is five mills on the dollar and 50 cents on the $100. The city tax rate is to be the same as formerly, 15 mills, or $1.50 on the $100. The taxes for which Atlanta residents will be liable will total 31 mills, or $3.10 on $100.

The rate for residents in the county, where the 7.5 mills school tax applies, will total 28.5 mills or $2.85 on the $100.

The constitutionality of a special county-wide tax for educational purposes was settled in the supreme court recently in a case from Floyd county where a tax was levied under provisions of the Elgers-Carwell school tax law.

COTTON ASSOCIATION MEMBERS TO CONVEENE

Columbia, S. C., September 20.—Meeting of officials and members of the American Cotton association from throughout the south will be held in Columbia on October 16, it was announced here today by J. Scottown Wannamaker, of St. Matthews, S. C., president of the organization. An invitation has been extended, he said, to all cotton growers, bankers, merchants, manufacturers and others interested in cotton, as well as state and federal officials, to attend.

Formal addresses have been eliminated from the program of the meeting, it was stated, and the sessions will be dedicated to discussion of boll weevil situation, farm labor situation and financing and marketing crops.

Babies in Auto Accident Escape; Parents Injured

Two babies riding in an automobile at Georgia avenue and Garden streets Thursday afternoon escaped unharmed while two women and a man in the same car suffered severe injuries in an accident.

The babies were children of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fuller, 633 Woodward avenue. One was six-week-old Dorothy, while the other was Grace, age 25-months. Both were thrown from the car as it overturned.

Mr. and Mrs. Fuller were severely injured about the head and limb, as was Mrs. J. M. Perkinson, of 437 Woodward avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Fuller and Mrs. Perkinson were given treatment at the Grady hospital.

The cause of the accident, according to the information gathered by Call Officers J. G. Bowman and M. C. Williams, was the effort of Fuller to dodge an auto which backed suddenly into Georgia avenue from Garden street.

Fuller, with his family and Mrs. Perkinson, was riding on Georgia avenue, when a machine backed hurriedly in the path of their car from Garden street. Fuller's car struck the curb and a post, turning over. Identity of the driver of the car which caused the accident had not been established by police late Wednesday night.

Another injury reported Thursday in an auto accident was that of a young boy, who lives on Hampton street. His leg was run over by an auto driven, police say, by H. N. S. Hampton, of 78 Hampton street.

Officers Sibley and Chester, who investigated the accident, stated in their report that the injured youth was playing in the street with his brother. He fell off a small wagon which he was riding, his foot falling in the path of the car.

Mrs. Annie Kingloff. Of 106 Haynes street, was slightly injured Thursday night when struck near Mitchell and Forsyth streets by an automobile driven by J. E. Pruett, of 476 Whitehall street.

A case of reckless driving was made known by Officer J. D. Strickland. In his report, he submitted the officer stated that Pruett claimed the accident was unavoidable.

James Favours, colored, was badly bruised Thursday night when knocked from his bicycle while riding on Decatur street, near Butler street, by an automobile said to have been driven by John Clowers, of 14 Bluff street. Until further investigation no arrest was made.

ATHENS CITIZENS VOTE INCOME TAX

dividual members of that body one of the most illuminating yet submitted, advocated an income tax and a compulsory poll tax of not less than $5.

Mr. Gordon asserted that the present poll tax of $1 was a burden upon any adult, white or black, male or female, to make for the privilege of living in this state and enjoying the rights of citizenship.

Urges $5 Fee.

"Georgia," he stated, "could incorporate in her constitution a provision making mandatory the registration of its adult population and put the fee in connection with such registration $5."

Mr. Gordon declared that the commission should not go before the legislature with general suggestions for that body, but should prepare a definite bill incorporating its ideas as to what is best for the state in the way of a tax system and submit it to the legislative branch of the state government for its action.

Of course, he said, it will probably not be accepted in toto, but it will in all probability prevent a flood of proposals from swamping the general assembly.

In making its canvass and arriving at an equitable tax system the commission should, Mr. Gordon said, ascertain just what amount of money is required to operate the state government and all institutions and then proceed to work out the actual obtaining the necessary revenue. The commission should not, he urged, lose sight of the fact that the state is now neglecting its state institutions which are suffering from lack of proper financial support.

Would Net $30,000,000.

"I believe," Mr. Gordon said, "the earning capacity of our people whether resulting from the return on invested capital or from the business profession in which he or she may be engaged, should, to a large extent, be the basis on which this commission should frame its recommendations. I do not believe that you would be justified in recommending any legislation which would eliminate the lien of local city and county taxes on realty or personal property, but I do feel that the only equitable basis for a just state tax is the income of the people. I believe that an income tax, supplemented by a larger and more universal poll tax is the solution of our tax problem and that such taxes are fundamentally sound."

The poll tax and tax on incomes of individuals and corporations would raise $30,000,000 annually, he said.

A. S. J. Stovall, of Elbert county, member of the legislature, advocated an income tax but counseled against a sales tax. Harry Holston, Athens business man, advocated an income tax. Henry Tucker, lawyer, advocated an income tax but declared that in the adoption of any sort of tax system the legislature should remember that machinery for its enforcement is of primary importance. T. J. Shackelford urged an income tax at the same time warning against the state relying on any one method for obtaining its revenue. He would stick to the advocacy and credit of a person who pays either way.

T. S. Mell declared he favors any tax in the world that will find its supporters or opponents depending on how it strikes the individual," he declared.

Howell C. Erwin, attorney, advocated an income tax, distinguishing between inherited and earned income with a smaller tax on the latter. J. M. Hodgson, merchant, favored an income tax as did J. D. Price, member of the state public service commission. The commission was entertained at a luncheon at noon at the State Normal school, meeting with the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs.

He testified that, to the best of his recollection, there had been no irregularities or illegals in connection with the finances of the department during his administration. Asked as to how the department had cooperated with his office, and as to the conduct of its affairs while he was governor, Mr. Dorsey answered "splendid—couldn't have been better."

He also testified that during his administration he had never authorized any employee of his office to sign his name to state warrants, under any circumstances.

Contribution Voluntary.

The contribution of $100 was entirely voluntary on Mr. Hilburn's part. In return for the $100, he made under the distinct understanding that there was nothing compulsory about it. He said the employees of the department had been asked to contribute to the campaign for election as it was their chief duty. He said that the commission knew of the contribution fund and that a committee, composed of J. I. Hicks, former assistant commissioner, Oscar Lee and himself, had been appointed to inquire into the matter. He said that he had been asked to contribute to the fund, but he had refused to do so.

an officer of the Wrigley Engraving company, to which these bills were payable, stated that the correction in the bill was made by a bookkeeper to rectify an error in an earlier statement. He said that his company received a check in full for exactly the same amount as shown on the requisition drawn by the department.

Tom Johnson, bookkeeper at the department, corroborated this testimony, stating that there was no such discrepancy in the matter, the difference shown being $8.30, and that, after the correction was made, books balanced properly.

Dr. C. H. Kittrell, former representative from Laurens county and a member of the state port and harbor commission, testifying Thursday, declared statements published in the Columbia Sentinel about the commission and the farm department, were false. He read an article said to have been written by Grover C. Edmondson which declared that Dr. Kittrell got $2,500 as salary and expenses for a "joy ride" to Montreal, Canada, to inspect the port terminals there.

Statement Denied.

"That statement is absolutely untrue," said Dr. Kittrell, "and I hope to say where he got his information. I made seven trips for the commission, including the Montreal trip. He was the author of a bill in the legislature which provided for a cover my actual expenses was $400."

Dr. Kittrell denied that Mr. Brown or any other of the agricultural department had approved his hotel bill of $90 incurred while attending the 1922 session of the legislature. He said that he had been asked to contribute to the fund, but he had refused to do so.

Governor Brandon tonight said that he had not invited Solicitor Davis to come to Montgomery for a conference and added that he did not see the solicitor, who was in the city last night.

NEWSPAPERMEN GET SUMMONS TO TESTIFY

Birmingham, Ala., September 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—Solicitor James G. Davis filed statements in which the executive said an inquiry would not be tolerated, as sole authority in governing convicted rested firmly with the governor of the state. Mr. Davis left Montgomery at 5 a. m. and upon arrival here went directly to his office to prepare for the opening of the grand jury.

The solicitor began issuing summonses for newspapermen, who in subsequent accounts of the mutiny, in the newspaper accounts of the trouble at the mines, convicted were quoted as saying that they were forced to work when ill. Convicts were also quoted as saying they were whipped.

Mr. Davis also called for files of newspapers containing first and subsequent accounts of the mutiny. In the newspaper accounts of the trouble at the mines, convicted were quoted as saying that they were forced to work when ill. Convicts were also quoted as saying they were whipped.

BRANDON SILENT; PROMISES STATEMENT

Montgomery, Ala., September 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—Governor William W. Brandon said he "had nothing to present," when advised of Solicitor James G. Davis' statement that the Jefferson county solicitor would proceed with an inquiry into conditions at Banner mines, in spite of the executive's orders not to do so. The governor said he "might have something to say later."

While many state officials were gathered in the executive offices this morning for several hours, including Attorney General Harwell G. Davis, Senator Foster of Tuscaloosa, floor leader of the house, and L. A. Boyd, head of the state convict department, nothing was given out concerning the conditions.

"A statement may be given out later," Governor Brandon said. "It remains to be seen what the next step will be."

Mr. Boyd said that a subpoena requesting him to appear before the Jefferson grand jury had been served. It was stated that the governor was not in conference with Solicitor Davis here last night. The solicitor, it was understood, was in conference with other state officials.

A resolution condemning "newspapers and others who have continued to insist upon the abolition of the convict lease system" and commending Governor Brandon for his position on the Banner convict mutiny was adopted by the house today. It was offered by Representative Verner of Tuscaloosa, and was seconded by Representative Long, of Butler. It pledged the support of the "entire state, moral and financial, in the upholding of the dignity of the governor's office and respect for the laws."

Hold Conference.

After he had written the solicitor, Governor Brandon called Mr. Davis to Montgomery and a conference last night. It was stated that the governor was not in conference with Solicitor Davis here last night. The solicitor, it was understood, was in conference with other state officials.

Negro Is Held After Inquest In Murder Case

Lawrence A. Hamilton, who was shot to death Sunday night at Peachtree and Third streets, was killed by either Will Shepard, a negro already under arrest, or Lucius White or James White, two other negro suspects, a coroner's jury declared Thursday after hearing testimony by several witnesses.

It was recommended that Shepard, who was taken into custody Tuesday, and the Whites, who are brothers, be held for further investigation by the grand jury.

Testimony by John Watson, an eye-witness of the shooting, brought out for the first time definitely that the shooting had been done by a negro.

Watson, who occupies a basement, the window of which opens on the sidewalk, said that he opened the window when he heard several voices outside. He said he saw a group of men who had been standing talking, breaking up. One man, a negro standing nearest to Peachtree, was leaving the sidewalk and moving away from the group. The man in the middle was standing still. A third man was backing away and drawing a pistol fired at the man in the middle of the sidewalk. The two negroes ran in opposite directions and a crowd gathered about the man who had been shot. The wounded man was Lawrence Hamilton.

Another witness at the inquest was the woman who volunteered the statement to the police Wednesday that she knew the man who had shot Hamilton. She is Daisy Puryear, of Cypress street. She told the jury that Will Shepard, Lucius White and James White all lived in her house.

They had gone out Sunday evening and after a few minutes returned. First Lucius and James came back, out of breath, and a moment later Will came in. They told me they had shot a white man on Peachtree street," the woman testified.

Previous to the woman's statement to Detective John Davis, the police had arrested Will Shepard on suspicion. In order to take him into custody they had to surround the house at 7 Cypress street Tuesday night. One man managed to escape and made good his getaway. This man is believed to have been either Lucius or James White.

The police are now searching the city for the two White brothers and their arrest is expected to come within a few days, according to the police.

Other witnesses at the inquest were James Gialella and Pete Matrangas, who testified that Hamilton had come in to warn them, while they were employed at a soda water fountain that negroes, who looked like hold-up men, were in the neighborhood.

The police have been unable to get a statement from Will Shepard, who maintains a sullen silence in his cell at the Fulton tower.

Atlanta Youth May Be Given Bravery Medal

Max Morris, Atlanta Boy Scout and member of troop No. 23, may be awarded the Lewis H. Beck medal for "unusual bravery" for the part he played in the rescue of a number of Atlanta girls who were thrown into the lake at East Lake Country club on the night of August 17, this year, resulting in the drowning of Miss Elsie Maurer.

The Atlanta Boy Scout court of honor will meet tonight in room 207, Chamber of Commerce building, to hear evidence of witnesses to the drowning of Miss Maurer and rescue work performed by young Morris.

Max has not applied for the medal and until requested to appear and make a statement to the court of honor at the meeting Friday night.

COURT REFUSES OFFER TO BUY COURT ASSETS

Petition asking permission to purchase the entire assets of the defunct Atlanta Savings bank, a negro institution that failed in January, 1922, was denied Thursday by Judge John B. Hutcheson, of Stone Mountain circuit, presiding in Judge George L. Bell's division of Fulton superior court. It was signed by H. E. Perry, negro, and others, and was opposed by E. L. Collier, editor of the Atlanta Post, and other negro creditors of the bank.

The Atlanta Savings bank was closed in January, 1922, after J. Q. Ross, president, was alleged to have embezzled a large sum of money. Agents of the state banking department took over the defunct institution and set about liquidating the assets which, it is claimed, aggregate $100,000, consisting of 237 acres of land in College Park, mortgages and other valuable property.

An offer of $72,000 was made for the total assets.

It was brought out during the hearing of the petition that the defunct institution owed sums in the amount of $35,000 to certain signees of the petition and that this amount would be deducted from the purchase price, leaving a total of only $37,000 to be distributed among depositors to whom the bank owed more than one quarter million dollars.

With the denial of the petition the matter of remains in the hands of liquidating agents of the state department of banking and who stated Thursday that less than $13,000 had been spent in adjudication thus far and that other necessary expenditures in finally liquidating the assets would amount to a very small sum.

DEATH OF BANANAS NOW WORRIES PARIS

Endowment Fund Is Asked For Negro School at Sparta

Once a slave, now the founder, moving spirit and principal of a splendid agricultural and industrial school for negroes—that in brief, is the life story of Linton S. Ingraham.

Ingraham, before emancipation of his race, was the property of Judge Linton Stephens, brother of that great Georgian, Alex Stephens.

When a young man, Ingraham was educated by Alex Stephens, who had the vision to see that the proper kind of education was the key to the solution of the race problem in the south. He believed that, through such men as Ingraham, bright and intelligent negroes, lay the hope for the colored race. Therefore he educated the young colored man, and told him to go out and spread the doctrine of industrial education among his people.

School at Sparta.

How well Ingraham has carried out that precept is shown in the school at Sparta, which today stands as a monument to his ceaseless effort, his intelligent direction.

It is known as the Sparta Agricultural and Industrial Institute. It occupies grounds comprising fifty-three acres and two buildings form the school plant proper. The acreage is farmed by the students, who through this method are given an opportunity to work their way through the school and thus win for themselves the education they need and desire.

The boys are taught modern methods of farming. They are shown the way by which they can raise themselves from the slough of illiteracy and ignorant, poorly paid labor, into the bright day of educated agriculture, prosperous and independent.

Taught Home Making.

The girls are taught home making, domestic science, sewing, dressmaking, cooking, etc., and are thus equipped to go out into life, ready to be factors in the improvement of home conditions of their race. Both boys and girls are, of course, given the regular grade school courses in addition to this practical training.

This school at Sparta is now thirteen years old. Its property is valued at about $35,000 or $40,000. With the exception of a small mortgage of $1,500 on one of the buildings it is clear of debt.

Ingraham is now in Atlanta, opening a campaign by which he hopes to raise from $75,000 to $100,000 as an endowment for his school. Not that he expects to get all that in Atlanta. What he plans and hopes is to raise a fair proportion of it here, more throughout the state, and whatever balance is needed in Boston.

Ingraham is well known in the Massachusetts city. Much of his financial support has come from that centre, and he still looks to it for help.

210 Pupils in School.

There are now 210 pupils in the school. He has more applicants than he can make room for every year and next year he is anticipating 500. He wants to buy, through this endowment, additional farm acreage adjoining his school, where the students can raise more crops, thus making room for more boys and girls. He wants also to erect a new building, a dormitory for boys.

Ingraham believes that the work he is doing will do more to keep the colored people in the south, by teaching them the way to prosperity, contentment and comfort, than any other thing. On this basis he is asking for help.

To help him in his solicitations he has letters of endorsement from many prominent white citizens. To begin with there is his former benefactor, Judge Alexander Stephens. Then Judge Samuel Lumpkin, of Rome, has added his commendation, in writing.

Others supporting his institution and his campaign include C. W. Moran, of Sparta, county superintendent of schools; Judge John M. Graham, of Atlanta, and many other prominent Georgians.

He asks all who feel that they can contribute to make clubs to be made of C. W. Moran, treasurer, and a member of the board of trustees of the school, at Sparta, Ga.

Lewisburg, W. Va., September 20.—Howard R. Harrah, foreman of the jury which failed to agree last July in the murder accessory trial of William Billiard, mine union official, was charged today on an indictment charging that he received $600 from G. C. Hickey, a union man, who was a defense witness in the Billiard case.

Hickey, charged with bribery, was to be placed on trial later in the day.

Community Chest Executive Board Named by Black

Atlanta's program for reconstruction of support for charity's institution was completed last Thursday morning, when Eugene R. Black, general chairman for federated charities campaign, named an executive board to direct the planning of the half-million drive in November.

Seventy-two leading business men turned in their names at the close of the organization meeting as volunteers for any work in connection with the drive, which they might be called upon to perform within the next few days.

Members of the executive board who with Mr. Black are to constitute the directors of the drive are H. M. Willett, W. W. Rans, Armand May, F. J. Paxton, T. H. Daniel, P. S. Arkwright, Harold Hirsch, Edwin Johnson, J. M. B. Hoxsey, St. Elmo Massey and R. L. Foreman.

Application for a charter for the Atlanta Community Chest will be made in a few days. By-laws and constitution for the new organization are now being prepared.

Twenty-two public charities and philanthropic institutions are to be dropped in the chest drive, drawing their entire support from it.

UBERDORFER HEADS ARMY ASSOCIATION

Captain Eugene Oberdorfer was elected president of the Association of the United States Army, in the annual election of officers held in the Chamber of Commerce building Thursday evening. Other officers elected to serve the association for the ensuing year were: Lieutenant Colonel H. Williams, first vice president; Lieutenant Colonel Otis B. Mitchell, second vice president; Captain J. S. Slicer, third vice president; Major R. R. Daly, treasurer; Captain E. E. Wilson, secretary, and Lieutenant James G. Galloway, judge advocate.

The meeting was addressed by General Winans, formerly commanding officer of Camp McClellan, Ala. General Bowley, who succeeds Major General David C. Shanks as commander of the Fourth Corps Area, also addressed the meeting, speaking on "Americanization."

WEEVIL MEETING IN NEW ORLEANS DELAYED 10 DAYS

The National Boll Weevil Menace convention which was scheduled to be held in New Orleans, October 16 and 17, has been postponed until October 26 and 27, according to advice received here by Governor M. B. W. Wellborn, of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta.

Postponement, it is said, was made necessary owing to conflict with a meeting of state governors and at the special request of United States Senator Jos. E. Ransdell and Governor John M. Parker, of Louisiana, whose previous engagements prevented their participation in the meeting on the original dates announced.

The New Orleans convention will be held under the auspices of the Louisiana Bankers' association and bankers throughout the entire cotton belt are co-operating in making it a success. Governor Wellborn, of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, embracing the states of Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana, has issued a statement, urging all bankers to attend the convention.

Governor Clifford Walker, of Georgia, received an invitation from Governor Parker and the Louisiana Bankers' association to attend the convention. The invitation was presented by Colonel G. T. McEliderry, of Talladega, Ala., president of the Alabama Farmers' union, and Colonel R. D. Bowen, prominent planter and business man of Paris, Texas. Colonel McEliderry and Colonel Bowen also called on J. C. Conwell, president of the Georgia Cotton Growers' Co-operative Marketing association, to enlist his interest.

Industrial corporations and financial concerns have already made contributions to a campaign which is now under way to combat the menace of the weevil in the south, and the New Orleans gathering will seek to devise further ways and means to assist in the fight.

F. R. Wadleigh, federal fuel distributor in Washington, advising Colonel Boileuillet of the circumstances, wrote:

"The official existence of the federal fuel distributor will end on September 22, as required by the act creating the office."

"Before going out of office, let me take this opportunity to express my hearty thanks and appreciation, officially and personally, for the co-operation and assistance that you have given me in my work as fuel distributor."

YOUTHFUL CONVICT FLEES IN COLQUITT

Waycross, Ga., September 20.—(Special).—That Lawrence Palmerstone, 18, of Philadelphia, who was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment in Ware county superior court this year, has escaped from the chain gang in Colquitt county, was the word received by officials here today. The youth was sentenced when he pleaded guilty to assault with intent to murder and highway robbery, in connection with his attack on O. K. Hawkins, Waycross taxi driver, early in 1923.

The "apple of discord" acquired a certain fame, but it got nothing like the publicity of the present banana of discord.—St. Paul Dispatch.

HAYNES SELLS LEASE ON WEST PEACHTREE

Sale of the 80-year lease owned by Eugene V. Haynes on store property at the southwest corner of West Peachtree street and North avenue to C. W. Deen, of Lakeland, Fla., for a consideration of $60,000 was announced Thursday by the Burdette Realty company.

The property consists of a unit of seven one-story stores. The purchase price of the leasehold, $25,000 of which was cash, includes the improvements on the site, as the lease applies only to the land. In part payment for his interest in the lease, Mr. Haynes took a $35,000 equity in store property at 53 Decatur street.

Blytheville, Ark., September 20.—Approximately 2,200 bales of cotton were burned in a fire which destroyed one storage shed at the plant of the Blytheville Warehouse and Compress company late last night. The damage was estimated at $250,000. Lightning is believed to have started the blaze.

Floyd Grand Jury Silent on Probe Of County Funds

Rome, Ga., September 20.—(Special).—Although the Floyd grand jury here completed its sessions late today and published its presentments, no reference was made to an investigation of alleged illegal expenditure of county funds, concerning which W. P. Bratfield and Cliff Autrey, members of the board of county commissioners, were summoned before the investigating body yesterday.

A great deal of interest has been aroused here since it became known that the alleged misappropriation of funds was being probed. It was rumored that another official besides the two commissioners was involved in the investigation, but the report has not been substantiated.

The alleged misappropriation in county funds is said to be only a small sum, but the investigation has nevertheless aroused keen interest here.

Sheriff Jerred Wilson is out of the city and no one at his office would make any statement as to whether indictments had been returned against the county officials.

Many Traffic Congestion Remedies To Be Considered

Councilman Harry York Will Ask Change in Signal Tower System at Meeting To Be Held This Morning.

BY STEWART F. GELDERS.
A change in the present traffic signal tower system to enable automobiles to shoot through the business district in 90 seconds instead of the 15 to 30 minutes it requires now during the heavy traffic hours, will be proposed by Councilman Harry York at the special meeting this morning of the traffic committee of council, of which he is a member.

Other remedies for traffic congestion to be proposed at the meeting, which is to be held jointly with the directors of the Atlanta Safety Council, include fixing of bonds of $250 to $500 for all motorists, to be forfeited if traffic laws are violated, adding 50 men to the police department for traffic duty, requiring licenses to be issued to all drivers, and creating a special traffic division of recorder's court to give speedy trial to traffic law violators.

Councilman York's solution of the traffic problem was worked out Thursday evening when he and a Constitution reporter made a survey of downtown conditions during the rush hours, timed the speed of a score of automobiles, changes in traffic lights and the methods used by the police in regulating traffic.

It developed that during the rush hour automobiles move through the city at a maximum speed less than 10 miles per hour and are forced to stop at each street intersection. It required 15 minutes to drive from the intersection of Peachtree and Whitehall streets to the corner of Whitehall and Mitchell, a distance of about one-third mile.

The apparent reason for the slowness of traffic is that there is no uniform through-town or cross-town movement. Cars move from corners to corners rather than directly through the district.

One Central Switch.
Consolidation of traffic towers under control of one centrally located switch would give uniformity to the traffic movement, Councilman York will tell the committee in presenting his ordinance. He will propose that north and south traffic through Fourth, Broad, Peachtree and Whitehall be permitted to flow uninterrupted for 90 seconds and that the lights then be changed and the east and west traffic be allowed to proceed uninterrupted for 45 seconds, and that these changes be continued regularly through the day.

With an entirely unobstructed street, it will be possible for an automobile to travel 20 miles an hour through the downtown district with perfect safety in 90 seconds. York got from the Candler building to the corner of Whitehall and Mitchell very easily at any time of day, whereas at present it takes at least ten minutes that long during the congested hours because of lack of uniformity in the direction in which traffic flows, the uncertainty of the length of time that the "go" signal will remain on and the necessity for stops at most corners to keep from hitting pedestrians who cross the streets in violation of the traffic signals.

Pedestrians Break Law.
Pedestrians were noted as the most flagrant and consistent traffic law breakers on the streets. They failed to observe traffic lights at practically every corner except Five Points, and at the Whitehall and Alabama street corners. The slow speed of motor traffic encourages them to disregard the red light signals because they know that a motorist can and will stop rather than hit a pedestrian, regardless of who has the legal right of way.

If motor traffic moved at high speed, as it does in practically every other large city, pedestrians would not cross until the proper signal was given, because it would not be safe. Under Councilman York's plan, but one of the traffic officers now required to remain in the traffic towers and at the signal switches could be released for duty in enforcing the traffic laws that are now violated constantly. Parking laws are practically disregarded, and police officials say that they have not enough men to enforce them.

Arnold's Suggestion.
The suggestion that motorists be required to post a bond of $250 or $500 with the ordinary of the county, to be forfeited if convicted of traffic violations, was made by Attorney Reuben R. Arnold in a letter Thursday to Judge Sheppard Bryan, president of the safety council.

Mr. Arnold asserted that there are no efficient tests of a driver's carefulness or ability to handle a car in emergencies, nor of his temperament, except the way he actually drives during a reasonable period of time.

Recorder George E. Johnson has suggested that licenses be required of all motorists and that they be issued only after examination has indicated that they are competent to drive. The license fee would support the license bureau, he said.

Alderman Jesse W. Armistead will propose to the committee that 50 additional policemen be employed by the city to be assigned to traffic duty. Mr. Armistead is chairman of the police committee of council. He said Thursday that the present police force is inadequate to cope with the traffic situation.

68 Cases Are Made.
Chief of Police James L. Beavers supported Alderman Armistead's statement, asserting that 68 cases had been made for traffic violations during the last two days.

The traffic committee, it was indicated Thursday, will not recommend any proposal for a one-way street system in the business district. The fact that the principal streets do not run parallel and that intersections are irregular makes it practically impossible to designate any streets for one-way traffic, it is claimed.

The special meeting of the traffic committee Friday was called as a result of a conference Tuesday held by Mayor Walter A. Sims, Recorder George E. Johnson, Chief of Police James L. Beavers and members of the safety council. Resolutions demanding strict enforcement of traffic regulations were adopted by the executive committee of the safety council at a meeting in the City club Wednesday.

Mayor Will Attend.
At the meeting Mayor Sims, Police Chief Beavers, Fire Chief Cody, Recorder Johnson, members of the planning commission of the police committee of council and a special committee from the safety council will be in attendance.

Councilman James L. Wells, chairman of the traffic committee, is out of the city. Members of the committee who will attend are Harry York, who introduced the traffic ordinance which is now in effect, W. C. Jenkins, T. Frank Callaway and J. A. Beall.

Members of the safety council executive committee, who passed the resolutions demanding enforcement of the traffic laws, are Dudley Cowles, Coke Davis, F. J. Paxton, Judge Sheppard Bryan, W. W. Orr, W. H. George, James A. Hollomon, C. D. Knight and N. C. Harrison.

Reuben Arnold's Letter.
The letter from Attorney Reuben Arnold to Judge Sheppard Bryan, president of the safety council, proposing that all drivers be bonded and their bonds be forfeited for traffic violations, follows:

"Dear Sir: I read in this morning's paper the suggestions of yourself and Judge George Johnson for making traffic safe, and I am glad that there is some organization at work on this subject.

I note you will have a conference with Mayor Sims, Chief Beavers and Recorder Johnson, and I hope good will come of it. The suggestion that we should have a squad of motorcycle policemen for regular and not sporadic patrolling of danger points is good.

As to the license system, it occurs to me that the best plan is to require a small bond of each man who shall be licensed to drive an automobile. A bond of $500 would be sufficient, or perhaps $250 would be enough. This should be accompanied by the certificate of two or more persons who drive automobiles, as to the habits and the temperament of the driver.

To merely have a test of the driver's ability to drive a machine as we used to have in the city amounts to nothing at all, or to merely have a test of what a driver knows about the mechanics of an automobile is no test at all.

It is impractical to have any real test unless the city had enough employees to accompany a driver through several days' driving so as to see what his temperament and his tendencies are. Of course, this is not feasible, and again, every driver would be on his good behavior while being tested.

One of the strange things about this subject is that until a man actually begins to drive a car, it is impossible to know in advance whether he will make a safe driver or not. Some men, who are apparently cautious and careful in all their relations in life, are reckless automobile drivers.

Temperament Figure.
We all know that temperament and sobriety cut more figure in safe driving than anything else. Some men are habitually reckless, some men drive while under the influence of liquor and some men are speed maniacs. Those men may know all about the anatomy of an automobile; they may be able to adjust any trouble with an engine or put on a tire, and yet they may be infinitely more dangerous in traffic than a person who could not adjust the smallest mechanical difficulty with the engine.

Automobiles are so easy to drive that a man needs no more knowledge of the construction of the car in driving than he needs of the knowledge of his own anatomy in walking or running. A little experience shows a man how to use a brake effectively, and that, in connection with the application of his power and the change of his gears, is all the knowledge that is required.

To say that a man cannot drive an automobile safely without knowing how to fix it or repair it is as foolish as saying that a man could not drive or ride a horse safely without being a veterinary.

Two things have no relation to each other. Nor is safety in driving very much related to age or sex. Therein lies the difficulty.

One Safe Test.
But we all know there is one safe test: if a person has driven an automobile for any length of time, those who have seen him drive know whether he can drive a car entrusted with a car. If no other case does the old adage so apply that the proof of the pudding is the eating.

And it is when the driver thinks no one is looking at him that he can form the best estimate of the kind of driver he is. Therefore, the bond requirement is the best estimate of good driver for this reason.

We all know that money talks and one who is willing to risk the payment of a penalty on his judgment that another is a safe automobile driver, is pretty apt to have knowledge or is pretty apt to get knowledge of the traits and temperament and record of one for whom he goes on a bond. This would apply whether the bondsman be an individual or a corporation, and the giving of a bond itself would tend to sober down and make a careful driver.

Indeed, a great many reckless, irresponsible or even regularly would not make any effort to qualify as a driver by giving a bond. The bond should be made payable to the ordinary of the county, and the amount thereof should be collectible upon proof that the driver has violated any law, state or municipal, regulating the driving of automobiles.

I am not sure that the city would have the authority to pass an ordinance requiring such a bond, but certainly the legislature would have that authority, and my recollection is that a bill on this line was introduced at the last session of the legislature but not reached.

I am sending a copy of this letter to Judge Johnson and also to Mayor Sims. Yours very truly, R. R. ARNOLD.

Unfavorable Action On Florida Waterways Has Been Withdrawn

Jacksonville, Fla., September 20.—Colonel Gilbert A. Youngberg, U. S. district engineer, announced today that the rivers and harbors board of the war department had suspended its unfavorable decision on taking over the east coast canal pending new figures from his office on the amount of freight moved from the affected territory from Jacksonville to Miami during the 1922-1923 season.

Already an organization of chambers of commerce has been effected and the work of circulating the memberships is in progress. E. G. Sewell, of Miami, heads the committee, and J. B. McDonald, of Fort Pierce, is secretary.

The figures will be compiled in the engineer's office in Jacksonville and forwarded with a new recommendation to the rivers and harbors board, which will probably set a date for a further hearing when oral testimony will be taken from the Florida East Coast people.

The plans include the deepening, widening and straightening of the canal throughout its length, the purchase of the property from the newly organized Florida Canal and Transportation company, and its operation as a free waterway.

BOARD MINUTES HELP SAUNDERS

Memphis, Tenn., September 20.—Details of transactions which led up to the litigation now pending—a petition to put the affairs of the Piggly Wiggly corporation in the hands of the receiver—today brought into the record of the United States district court here minutes of a meeting of the executive committee to show authorization given Clarence Saunders, former president of the corporation, to act as agent for the corporation in negotiating a million dollar loan.

This evidence was introduced in support of the contention of Mr. Saunders, who filed the petition for a receiver at the time he retired as executive head of the corporation, that in various transactions he acted merely as agent for an undisclosed principal and not as an individual.

The loan was obtained by the issuance of notes floated through a Nashville firm of which Rogers Caldwell, of Nashville, is president.

During the cross-examination of Saunders, W. H. Fitzhugh, counsel for the corporation which is contesting the application for a receiver, sought to question him as to his expenditures on C. Le-Hé-Clare, Saunders' "million dollar" country home now partly constructed, C. Le-Marsilliot, master in chancery before whom the hearing is in progress, ruled however, that questioning should be reserved for later.

J. A. Boillin, merchant of Clarksville, Tenn., proprietor of the store in which Saunders "clerked" before he came to Memphis and established Piggly Wiggly—the only other witness heard today—was recalled to clarify the records as to whether he was in Memphis at the time a meeting of the stockholders and directors was held January 30 last. It was explained that reference to Mr. Boillin attending a meeting of the stockholders on that day was due to a clerical error.

Mr. Boillin testified that he was in Clarksville on the day in question.

Chattanooga, Tenn., September 20. Boudre Brown, a local stock broker, was found dead in his office in an office building here this afternoon. A bottle of poison and some of the poison in a glass indicated the cause of death.

Mr. Brown was indicted by the Hamilton county grand jury a few days ago on the charge of passing a worthless check for $500. He was to have been arrested this afternoon.

SHIP BOARD BOYCOTT SCOFFED BY BRITISH

London, September 20.—A report from America that British shippers have declared a boycott on the United States shipping board, is received with marked incredulity in London shipping circles, according to The Daily Telegraph. The paper adds:

"Although from time to time, a few hot-headed persons among the shippers may have mooted the desirability of a boycott, no impression can be gathered in responsible quarters that such a course is even a possibility."

TURNER FAIR OPENS WITH MANY EXHIBITS

Ashburn, Ga., September 20.—(Special.)—The first day of the Turner County fair was a great success today.

Some of the best Jerseys and Guernseys that there are in Georgia, as well as many fine chickens and dogs, besides other farm products are on exhibition. Many expressions of surprise at the completeness and quality of the exhibit have been heard from visitors. Turner county is showing in the fair what the Turner county plan or the Georgia association program will do. C. K. C. Ausley, president of the Georgia association, said that the exhibit was excellent and he was glad Georgia had Turner county.

Many other visitors are flocking here from all parts of the state. Some of the 400 chickens on exhibition would look good in any fair. In fact, Turner county chickens took several first prizes in the last state poultry show. The Guernsey cows are coming in for a large part of comment. Some of the finest bred cows in the south have been brought to the county and there is an exhibit of about 40 at the fair. The Jerseys are not behind the Guernseys and may outnumber them in the county. Much fine blood of this breed has come into the county during the past two years. It is likely that one or two Jersey bulls from this show will go to the Southeastern fair. Several visitors have expressed themselves as thinking that this is the greatest county fair they have ever seen.

It is expected that many others from the state will take advantage of the remaining two days to see what the Georgia association program is. Saturday is to be Georgia association day and it is expected that each member county will have a representative here.

Democratic Leader Forms Victory Club For Macon Citizens

Macon, Ga., September 20.—(Special.)—N. M. Patten, of Abbeville, Ga., special representative of the national democratic committee, who has charge of the organization of democratic victory clubs in Georgia, came here today to begin the organization of a local club.

Curran R. Ellis was named chairman and Mrs. Viola Ross Napier, member of the legislature from Bibb county, was chosen vice chairman. They will begin at once the preparation of a list of prospective members for the club. Twenty members is the minimum for a club, but efforts will be made to enroll 500 members here.

LITTLE GIRL INJURED IN CRASH OF CARS

Covington, Ga., September 20.—W. D. House, well known eastern insurance representative of Covington, this afternoon about 4 o'clock when a car, driven by an unknown man, ran into his auto just as he turned to drive into his yard. The baby was the only one of the three hurt, and while physicians had to take three stitches in her forehead the wound is not considered serious. Mr. House says the accident was unavoidable, and no case will be made against either driver.

"Atlanta's Own" Regiment at Home Again After Long Hike From Camp McClellan

View of the Twenty-second regiment, "Atlanta's Own," passing down Whitehall street just after crossing the viaduct.

One of America's crack regiments, escort and as is ever the case when the Twenty-second Infantry, known as "Atlanta's Own," swept by the reviewing stand on Peachtree street Thursday morning on its way home to Fort McPherson. The drums beat with thunderous accents, the swish of hundreds of marching feet mingled with the sharp, whip-like commands of the officers, thousands of athletic bodies swung with perfect unison, rifles were lying back in even windows, and as far as the eye could see there was nothing but olive drab uniforms, moving to the rhythm of brass bands and the bugles.

Company after company of bronzed men, wagon trains, ambulance and medical units, signallers and engineers, a miniature army, a phalanx of strength and splendid manhood passed by.

The Governor's Horse Guard met the marching columns to act as an soldiers meet soldiers there was a cheer and a shout as the troopers hove in sight.

There was nothing but happiness that greeted the returning soldiers. No casualties were to be mourned for the Twenty-second was in the last lap of a triumphant march across the state, back from Camp McClellan to Fort McPherson.

The last lap of the journey began on scheduled time at North avenue and Peachtree. From there the triumphant march through the city had its beginning. Here it was that cavalry detachments came to meet the columns of infantry, just as is the custom in darker days when the horsemen ride in front of the musketeers as reconnoitering patrols.

The route of march was down West Peachtree to Peachtree and then down at the Capital City club were Mayor Sims and Adjutant General Charles Cox and others.

As the troops marched through the streets cameramen and photographers kept "shooting" away at the swinging columns.

The Twenty-second Infantry has been at Camp McClellan for the summer. It was explained that the home-ward march was completed in a leisurely manner in order to acquaint the people of the districts through which the regiment passed with its home quota of regular troops. Camps were pitched at Carrollton, Lithia Springs and other places and the citizens of these communities were invited to attend baseball games and other regimental sports and entertainments given by the soldiers.

Lieutenant-Colonel J. M. Kimbrough, Jr., was in charge of the regiment during its march across the state.

Removal of Name From Cornerstone Causes Sensation

Macon, Ga., September 20.—(Special.)—A near sensation developed here today when it was discovered that a stonecutter had chiseled the name of a prominent Macon woman from the cornerstone of the Washington memorial library, a gift to the city by Mrs. E. W. Bellamy, in memory of her brother, the late Hugh Y. Washington. Mrs. Bellamy later admitted she employed the stonecutter to do the work, but denied there was any spite work in her action, saying the cornerstone was an imperfect piece of marble and the stonecutter had told her he could remove the names and insert another stone where the portion of the present one was removed. She said it was her intention to restore the names of the trustees of the library to the new portion of the stone when it is installed.

BIG BEAR KILLED

300-Pound Animal Placed on Exhibit.

Waycross, Ga., September 20.—(Special.)—The second bear to be killed in the neighborhood of Braganza was brought to Waycross this morning by a party of hunters and placed on exhibition at the local fire station.

The bear, a male, weighed over three hundred pounds, and measured six feet from nose to the tip of his tail. S. Hickox, W. F. Strickland, L. D. Hickox and Homer Crawford composed the party which bagged the bear on the right of way of the tram road of the Braganza Lumber company.

After being mortally wounded by a bullet from the gun of Crawford the bear plunged into the thickets and ran for several hundred feet before falling. Moaning pitifully, the big beast breathed his last, the hunters said.

STATE VETERINARIANS CHOOSE NEW OFFICERS

Savannah, Ga., September 20.—(Special.)—Officers of the Georgia State Veterinary association elected today while the party was on a cruise about the harbor on a steamer were: President, Dr. John M. Suttin, of Sylvester, vice president of the association the past year and absent today because of illness in his family at home. He succeeds Dr. A. D. Richardson, of Athens; vice president, Dr. J. E. Severns, Athens; secretary and treasurer, Dr. Peter F. Bahnsen, Atlanta. The next meeting will be in Columbus September 18 and 19, 1924. Athens, Atlanta and Dublin also asked for the next meeting. The general impression among the 60 members here is that there was never as important a time for the activity among the profession in Georgia, a state which can become a banner state for hog and cattle raising if diseases are successfully combated.

COLON POISONING DESTROYS HEALTH

Hastens Old Age and Premature Degeneration of All Vital Organs.

It is a wise man who understands his colon and keeps it in perfect working order. Health, happiness, vigor and long life are the gifts which an active colon can give you—and a lazy colon can take away.

Your colon is the last five feet of your digestive canal. It is your sewerage system; your garbage can, so to speak. Keep it clean and you are well and happy; let it stagnate and it will distill the poisons of decay, fermentation (gas) and putrefaction into your blood, poisoning your brain and nerves so that you are restless, irritable and blue; poisoning your heart so that you are weak, listless and lazy; poisoning your lungs so that your breath is heavy or foul; poisoning your stomach and digestive organs so that you are bloated, belching and uncomfortable with gas pains; making you look and feel old and ugly long before your time; making your joints and your back stiff, your eyes dull and your brain sluggish.

By the perfect law of Nature, your colon should empty itself three times a day—within an hour after eating. Does your colon work that well? If not, it has lost its tone. What do we mean by tone? Your colon is a hollow muscle. Its walls are made up of long, muscle fibres or muscle cells which, by their contraction, empty the colon just as you would squeeze a rubber hose pipe. These muscle fibres should contract three times a day—within an hour after each meal. If they do not contract, they have lost their tone—their power to contract.

But, there is a practically perfect remedy for lazy, flabby colons. This remedy quickly restores the tone, is absolutely harmless and decidedly pleasant to take. Clip this article and take it to your druggist. Tell him to give you a bottle of that new preparation, called Colotone—the colon tonic. It will cost you one dollar if you are pleased with it, nothing if you are not pleased with it, for every druggist has been instructed to refund the price and ask no questions if his customer is not thoroughly satisfied.

But you will be delighted with Colotone for it will make you feel like a different person. Your eyes will sparkle with vitality and alertness; your brain will be clear and active; your complexion will be fresh and transparent, reflecting the purity of your blood; your digestion will be thorough and your appetite keen, for your food will taste delightful and will agree with you; you will sleep and awake refreshed; your system will be full of vim and vigor; you will feel younger, stronger, vigorous—you will enjoy the pleasure of living.

Get started on Colotone today. Nearly every person over twenty-five or thirty years of age, and many younger, need Colotone more or less. You will be simply delighted with it. Colotone cannot possibly do you any harm—it can only do you good. Try it on your guarantee. It will help you live long, well and happily.—(adv.)

CONVICT IS WOUNDED AS HE ATTACKS GUARD

Clarksville, Ga., September 20.—Leonard Fitzgibbons, sent from Fulton county for larceny, and now confined on the chaingang of Habersham county was shot and seriously injured today by a guard, Wash Gabrels, as Fitzgibbons attempted to strike the guard with a pick. The bullet from the guard's pistol struck Fitzgibbons on the collar bone on the left side and ranged downward to the region of his heart. He is suffering intense pain. The attending physicians were unable to locate the bullet. His condition is serious but not necessarily fatal.

Since his daring get-away a few days ago when he and three other convicts sawed their way from the cage to freedom and his subsequent capture after a long chase, Fitzgibbons has been in an angry and unruly mood, using abusive language toward the officials and guards which terminated today in his attempt to assault the guard.

Fitzgibbons was formerly in Rabun

Hit Him Over Head, Man Says of Wife In Seeking Divorce

Macon, Ga., September 20.—(Special.)—Frank H. Powers, Jr., prominent young Macon business man, today filed suit for divorce against his wife, Mrs. Annie Marion Powers, charging her with being "habitually violent, quarrelsome and fault-finding," which he says forced him to leave her.

On June 18, he charges, she struck him over the head with a vase and threatened his life. He also charges she threw books at him.

A six-year-old daughter is now in the custody of Mrs. Powers, and Mr. Powers agrees that she may keep the child providing he can see her often. No question of alimony is brought out, Powers volunteering to support his wife and child as he claims he has been doing since the separation.

WHO CONTROLS RIVER? Judge Must Decide in Savannah Case.

Savannah, Ga., September 20.—"Is the Ogeechee river navigable?" is the question which was put before Judge H. B. Strange in superior court today at Statesboro by attorneys representing interests in Savannah. S. B. Euforow, owning lands on the river near Oliver, is seeking to restrain by law the White & Hamilton Lumber Co., of Savannah, from using the river flowing through and by his land for the purpose of towing great rafts of logs and lumber with motor boats.

High, dry, high and dry ways are cited in the legal contention to settle whether the Ogeechee is navigable for commercial use. Colonial records have been adduced, precedent cited, and much law, old and new, state and federal, referred to. The right of a company to use the stream with the land owner's claimed right to the issue for determination by the court in granting or declining an injunction. No damages are asked. A decision is expected tomorrow.

Don't Lose Sight of the Food Value of Your Baking

Plain flour has a large amount of food value but it must be combined with good baking powder in order to retain this value.

Most self rising flours are not successful because they do not and cannot raise the bakings to the proper lightness. This means a certain loss of nutrition because they are heavy and hard to digest.

Every time you eat food that does not properly digest you do not get the full nutritional value—you are over-taxing your stomach. Nourishing and perfect bakings are what good health demands. The one sure way is—use pure flour and good baking powder.

If you want to find what thousands of housewives have learned—make some biscuits with self-rising flour—then make some with good plain flour and Calumet Baking Powder—notice the great difference. One trial will satisfy you. Your health demands that you make the experiment.

Those who know—millions of housewives, domestic science teachers, big hotels, restaurants, bakeries and railroads will not use anything but Calumet, the Economy Baking Powder.

Play safe—use Calumet and plain flour. It is the most economical and satisfactory, where light, wholesome and pure foods are desired.

Q.—What will keep mosquitoes away from one at night?
A.—The following mixture: Oil of tironella, one ounce; spirits of camphor, one ounce; oil of cedar, one-half ounce. Ordinarily a few drops of this mixture on a towel hung at the head of the bed will keep mosquitoes away, but where these insects are very abundant, a few drops rub-

Q—How may metal tools be marked?

A—Warm them slightly, and rub with a steel with wax, or hard tallow, until a film gathers. Then scratch the letters with the fingers of the left hand on the steel. A little nitrifying through the letters will make them more permanent and on the writing will quickly eat out the letters. Wash off the acid and remove the wax with a lot rag, and the letters will be securely marked.

Q—How is spinach complexion treated?

A—Wash the spinach thoroughly; boil three heaping handfuls of it in water, and strain it through a cloth. Add 15 grains of powdered alum, pulverized camphor and powdered borax. Use twice a day, always shaking the mixture.

Q—How may the sun be kept from interfering with the work of a telescope?

A—How may rust be removed from nickel-plated articles?

A—Cover the stains with a good grease, and then move the rust by rubbing with a little ammonia. If this does not remove the rust, try very diluted hydrochloric acid, or dilute sulphuric with tripoli or whiting.

Q—Is there six months continuous darkness in the polar region and six months continual light? so, what does the sun disappear, and when does it appear again.

BLESSEDNESS

Text, "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the way of sinners."—Psalm 1:1.

Blessedness is very different from happiness and yet they are often confused.

Happiness is a word which emphasizes the outward circumstances of life. When the things that "happen" are such as please us we experience happiness. It is the more objective—outward—word. It is a word that has no resources of its own, but is Happiness is a very precious experience and yet blessedness is no less precious and is a far deeper one.

One may be happy and yet not blessed as when enjoying the pleasures of sin which are but for a season and leave the sting of death behind them.

Again, one may be blessed and not happy, as was Job when, deprived of fortune and children, he said: "The Lord has taken away all that I have. He slay me, yet will I still be in Him."

Approval of the proposed lease was originally voted 5 to 1 by the commission, Commissioner Conner casting the dissenting ballot and Chairman Shelly not voting.

GOV. WALTON DECALRES FINISH FIGHT ON KLAN

In placing Oklahoma county under absolute martial law and banning the grand jury session, Governor Walton charged that he acted to prevent the Klan officials of the county from proceeding with their purpose to indict him.

Dr. Maupin detailed the early history of the Klan in Oklahoma City, testifying that within a few months the membership grew to more than 1,000. A man named McCarron came here from Houston, Texas, to take charge early in the movement, the witness said.

He came to teach anti-Catholic, anti-Jew and anti-foreign and whipping parties for fellows who disobeyed the orders of the Klan, and others known to be breaking the laws of the land, of tar-and-feather parties and mutilation for negro porters and other fellows who were deemed to be justly entitled to have such penalties.

Dr. Maupin testified that after the Klan at Moore, Okla., sent out its squad to abduct a bootlegger, resulting in the killing of two members of the squad and the intended victim, Grant Landon, called a meeting of the Oklahoma City organization at which a motion was adopted to send a donation of $500 to the Ardmore Klan for the defense of the Klan members charged with murder.

This apparently referred to the killing of Joe Carroll, who resisted an attempt by Klan raiders to abduct him. Two of the raiders were killed. All of the men charged with Carroll's slaying were freed.

Dr. Maupin went at length into local political activities of the Klan. "Were you a witness to the whipping of this man Merriman?" Dr. Maupin was asked.

(Merriman was not identified in the testimony.)

Plenty of Reports.
"I never knew anything about that until it was over with. That was about the time they had gotten the membership to about 5,000 and in that membership were quite a number of fellows who wanted to see something happening and they were always jumping up and reporting on and so on."

By and by Mr. Landon, (who the witness said was grand cyclops then) came forth with a proposition. He says: "There is a good deal of misconduct, a good many things going on that need attending to, and as a crowd like us have to handle these things we need a small body of trusted men—banned and gowned fellows riding through the streets—but I never got onto just what was going on, not until the first of February 1921."

Woman Phones Him.
Then Dr. Maupin related how he had been summoned from his bed at 2 a. m. by the insistent ringing of his telephone and was told by a woman in an excited voice that a man had been accused of being intimate with her and had been abducted and whipped by a band of men.

Dr. Maupin said he asked the name of the man and was told that it was Merriman.

"A right here I heard the telephone click and the thought hit me that the Klan had been at work as I heard them tell of a plan to tap all telephones in town," the witness said.

Dr. Maupin testified that the next morning the woman, whom he had known since childhood, came to his office and related the story of the abduction as Merriman gave it to her, after his return. Merriman said the floggers attempted to make him confess, but that he refused.

The dentist then related to him that he had attempted to learn who administered the whipping and had obtained a statement from N. C. Jewett, present grand dragon of the Klan.

Met in Court Room.
"They began to spread that, and pretty soon the Klan was filled with men of all stripes."

The early meetings were held in a local hotel in Judge Clark's court room, the Congregational church and the Old Epworth University, the witness said.

He declared that N. C. Jewett had been the "outside organizer" and "told the boys what to do."

Dr. Maupin said the first criminality he had heard of on the part of the Klan came from the lips of the grand goblin of the state of Texas who told the local organization of having watched a negro dentist whipped and mutilated in Galveston. He added then denials from Klan officials that the organization had any connection with mob violence began to appear in the newspapers.

Dr. Maupin related that attempts were made to enlist Governor Walton into the Klan, the latter then being mayor of Oklahoma City. Walton refused to join, he said, and then Jewett and four other men decided that "if anything ever happened they would say that Jack (Walton) tried to get in and could not."

Walton as mayor refused to issue a permit for a Klan parade and that the Klan members sought his membership, the witness said.

Asked For Volunteers.
"What about the meeting where Jewett mentioned the tarring and feathering of the governor?" the witness was asked, and he replied that Jewett and others after being refused a "concession" by Mayor Walton went to a Klan meeting and yelled for 100 men and said they had a matter they wanted to attend to. It was not explained what the men were wanted for, Dr. Maupin added, and he said Jewett was unable to get the volunteers he called for.

Colonel Walker questioned the witness about the names of the men who were "all the time trying to start it." Jewett and Womach and Andy Binn and Gid Walker, Dr. Maupin replied. "They were the self-constituted squad of whippers for the county council of defense, and they got this whipping business and brought it over to the Klan and Grant Landon."

The members were always telling the members that they had to create some "excitement and bring in new membership," Dr. Maupin continued.

Progress by Work.
"There are four things in this order and you can progress only by work," McCarron advised, the witness said, adding, "Work, as he understood it, meant crime and as I understand it."

Dr. Maupin said that after the Klan at Moore, Okla., sent out its squad to abduct a bootlegger, resulting in the killing of two members of the squad and the intended victim, Grant Landon, called a meeting of the Oklahoma City organization at which a motion was adopted to send a donation of $500 to the Ardmore Klan for the defense of the Klan members charged with murder.

This apparently referred to the killing of Joe Carroll, who resisted an attempt by Klan raiders to abduct him. Two of the raiders were killed. All of the men charged with Carroll's slaying were freed.

Dr. Maupin testified that in order to draw Jewett out he had censured the action of the whippers, whereupon the latter had turned upon him angrily and said:

"I will have you understand that I am the man who laid that one. I led the party, but I knew what I was doing. I am the fellow who held the whip and put it on his back and made him confess."

Pressing the evidence, Dr. Maupin testified, Jewett said that he had "stood out there and watched her house night after night," and "saw that fellow come and go."

Woman Denies Charge.
The witness declared he obtained a denial of the charge from the woman, which he verified to his own satisfaction, and he received a summons to appear before the "Sanhedrin" as a result of his activities in behalf of the woman. He testified that he later established the fact that the Klan had tapped the wire during his original conversation with her.

He said he "put on some artillery" and confronted the "Sanhedrin," forcing Landon to walk ahead of him as a precaution.

"I'm going to tell you something, Grant," Dr. Maupin said he told Landon. "You have set a rabbit trap here and it is more than possible that you will catch a bear, and it is more than possible that somebody is going to get hurt, and I want to know that you are going to be the first boy to get it."

He said that he made Landon sit in front of him, warning the cyclops that if he observed a single move, "I am going to put this thing off."

He said he was told "this is the imperial council" and that he replied "yes, I declare myself no longer a member of this organization."

Sanhedrin Is Lash Squad.
He said that at the "Sanhedrin" session he was told by the pastor of the First Baptist church who was a member of the body that Merriman had been whipped for "making disparaging remarks about the Klan," and that he was the wife of a Klansman.

Dr. Maupin testified that when the session adjourned, he locked Landon in his office with the parting word:

"Grant, you don't know how near you have been to death this afternoon."

He said he later telephoned the cyclops secretary to release him.

Dr. Maupin testified that he had no personal knowledge of any whippings and said that he had never attended one.

Discussing the Klan oath in connection with jury service, Dr. Maupin said the local Klan had worked out this solution:

"If in case any member is subpoenaed as a juror or a witness in any case whatever that automatically suspends him from this organization, and he is not a Klansman until after he has served his term as such witness or juror which reinstates him and he is a Klansman."

"Now they instruct the men right there when they adopted that, that you can go now and swear that you are not a Klansman, but as soon as your service is completed you are reinstated and you are a Klansman."

The whipping squad of Oklahoma is known as the "Sanhedrin," Dr. Maupin testified. He said he had been told lately that a certain local surgeon, whom he named, "is the operating surgeon."

CALL FOR LEGISLATURE HAS BEEN SENT OUT.
Oklahoma City, Okla., September 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—A special session of the lower house of the Oklahoma legislature to hear charges against Governor Walton was called for September 27.

Sixty-nine legislators have attached their names to the call for the convening of the house at noon next Wednesday, McBee said. Fifty-four constitutes a majority. McBee predicted Governor Walton will not meet troops to prevent assembly, despite his earlier threats and E. J. Giddings, one of the governor's legal advisers, announced that he would advise the governor against attempting to interfere with the session.

"Let them go ahead—it is not illegal," Giddings asserted.

In a statement issued tonight Murray F. Gibbons, speaker of the house and a Walton supporter, declared that the session would be illegal.

Leaders of the movement to consider charges against Walton of an impeachable nature announced that Gibbons probably would be proposed as speaker when the house is organized.

To Let Solons Meet.
Gibbons also expressed the opinion that Walton would not interfere with the legislators next Wednesday. He said he had every reason to believe that the governor would simply ignore the house members who meet. Armed guardsmen still stood before the doors of the house and senate chamber at the capital tonight.

The federal district court will be appealed to in the event that Governor Walton attempts to dissolve the session, it was stated by McBee. Plans for bringing an action in the state supreme court were abandoned today, the legislators taking the stand that the legislature is superior to the highest court of the state.

Seven members, who have signed the petition, including McBee, issued a statement tonight placing themselves on record as favoring the enactment of a law prohibiting the wearing of masks or masks or blazes, and rigid prohibition, with severe penalties, of any floggings or mob violence. They also declared for an investigation through proper channels, of charges of derelictions on the part of various county officers.

The statement was issued in reply to the charge of Governor Walton that the fight against him was being conducted by Klan members of the legislature. N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the Oklahoma realm of the Ku Klux Klan, announced today that the Klan would not fight back at Governor Walton. It was the first utterance of the Klan official since his declaration more than a week ago that "Governor Walton and all his cohorts can never break the power of the Klan in Oklahoma." This statement of the grand dragon was one of the principal reasons given by Governor Walton for his edict of state-wide martial law.

Governor Walton had made the Klan the peg upon which a political harp has hung the tattered habiliments of grotesque failure while making his last frantic bid for public favor, the grand dragon charged.

Jewett was not summoned today before the military court sitting here taking testimony in floggings cases, although it has been predicted that he is to be called before the body.

State investigators were continuing their efforts to trace state records of the Klan, which are reported to have been rushed out of Oklahoma City when word was received that martial law had been declared.

Sheriff Tom Cavnar was one of the witnesses that appeared before the military court during the day. He told newspapermen that he had entered a denial that he was dominated by the Ku Klux Klan and had branded as false charges that victims of mob violence were afraid to report their cases because of the reported power of the Klan over officials of Oklahoma county.

Governor Walton announced tonight that he would take up tomorrow the question of his position on the special session of the legislature.

session of the house. "My position toward the proposed meeting is unchanged at present," the executive said when asked if he intended to carry out his threat to prevent the session by force.

"Certain Klan members of the lower house are calling a 'rump meeting.' I will take no part in it, and I will let the matter up tomorrow," Walton stated.

KLAN LEAVES BATTLE TO CITIZENS OF STATE.
Oklahoma City, Okla., September 20.—A signed statement declaring that Governor J. C. Walton has made the Ku Klux Klan the "peg" upon which a political harp has hung the tattered habiliments of grotesque failure while making his last frantic bid for public favor, was issued here today by T. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the Klan in Oklahoma.

Mr. Jewett declared that despite the numerous assaults upon him in the offer of "protection" if they would withdraw from the order, "we have been enjoying a record-breaking growth in membership in the past few days."

He asserted that the Klan "is not going to fight back now" and would leave it to the "people of Oklahoma to settle the fight."

"Mr. Walton did not frown upon the Klan until he had advocated that it did not smile upon him. It is a fact of indisputable record that he was irregularly made a member of the Ku Klux Klan, that a 'passport' or membership card was irregularly issued to him, and that recognition was then refused him."

Forfeiture charges that the extraordinary session of the Oklahoma legislature called to assemble next Wednesday is a "Klan legislature," a committee of seven state representatives issued a statement today in which they declared they would wear masks, of masked assemblies and of severe penalties for floggings or mob violence any more.

Jewett's Statement.
Mr. Jewett's statement follows: "As chief officer for the order in Oklahoma, I would like to express to you that the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, a regularly incorporated body with members throughout the length and breadth of the land, has been libeled and slandered. It has not been indicted and tried by due process of the law. In Oklahoma the attack upon the order appears to be understood by the people."

"It has been made the peg upon which a political harp has hung the tattered habiliments of grotesque failure while making his last frantic bid for public favor."

Mr. Jewett asserts that the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan is a lawless organization, which is a fundamentally libelous statement, as our printed constitution, by-law, obligation, and program will all show.

"When the order affirms its loyalty to the law and order it carries the principle to the last man in its own ranks, as is evidenced by the recent published statement of Dr. H. W. Evans, its charges denied."

"The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan stand unalterably opposed to law violation in every shape and form. If Klansmen, acting as individuals in violation of the solemn oath of the order, are found to have participated in law violations, so much the worse for them—the Klan has no room for such men."

"The charge that the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan attempts to assume the functions of political government is equally false. The words 'invisible empire' have a ritualistic meaning only. The Klan is not a political organization and politically its members do nothing more heinous than exercise their rights as American citizens."

"There is not an atom of truth in the statement that orders which must be submitted to an arbitrarily used by officers of the Klan. The only power which I have is that granted by the constitution of the order and conferred by the majority of the members of the order. I have no power arbitrarily to order anybody to do anything."

"The only power which the Klan has or can hope to have, is that which is generated through the cooperation of organized right-mindedness. As a body of American citizens we believe in getting together, thinking together and working together, always under the law and within the law. Organization, education and cooperation are the working principles of the order."

Will Not Be Bluffed.
"We have the right so to organize, so to think and so to cooperate and we will not be bluffed or bullied out of that right. Although accused of fostering religious intolerance, nothing could be farther from the truth."

"We deny no man his religious rights, and we respectfully request that we be left alone in the air of ours. Our mask and robe are made another bugaboo but they have no meaning in our practical program. Our secrecy is a means for efficiency and protection only. It is high time that the American public be informed concerning the scores and scores of offenses against the Klan and Klansmen including arson, assault, blackmail, boycott, burglary, conspiracy, libel and murder."

"Although Governor Walton now admits that he is fighting the Klan, the situation causes us no worry. We are not going to fight back now. With a call for a special session of the legislature already issued with impeachment proceedings well under way, with the rising tide of protest from press and public at the method of Mr. Walton in employing there is every indication that the people of Oklahoma will settle the fight."

"The people are not happy. They are being compelled to pay the fiddler without being permitted to dance."

Personal Motives.
"Moreover, the impression is abroad that personal motives are playing too large a part for the good of the state. They have discovered that Mr. Walton did not frown upon the Klan until he had advocated that it did not smile upon him."

"It is a fact of indisputable record that he was irregularly made a member of the Ku Klux Klan, that a 'passport' or membership card was irregularly issued to him, and that recognition was then refused him."

"Photographic copies of documents bearing on this circumstance have appeared in several Oklahoma papers. Secondly, there is the personal record growing out of his political disasters. His administration has been cumulatively unpopular. Six weeks ago he was fighting for his political future; today he is fighting for his political existence."

Attitude of Klan.
"What attitude will the Klan take toward the law in Oklahoma? Simply pursue the even tenor of its ways and obey the law in letter and spirit. Klansmen are American citizens and only rights which will demand will be the rights of American citizens."

"In the meantime, despite the insidious efforts of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, there is the personal record of 'protection' if they would withdraw from the order, we have been enjoying a record-breaking growth in membership in the past few days. The fight is not our fight. The issue will be drawn, has been drawn between the citizens of Oklahoma, who are also American citizens, and any person or persons who, under any pretext whatever, attempt to subvert the holy principles upon which our government is founded. And the citizens of Oklahoma will not be found wanting."

(Signed) N. C. JEWETT.

FEAR TROUBLE
IN MARION, ILL.
Marion, Ill., September 20.—The board of supervisors of Marion county, the scene of the Herrin mine killings, in a resolution adopted today asserted "the people are becoming alarmed and serious trouble seems imminent which is liable to break out at any moment." The resolution was in connection with alleged laxity in law enforcement and law feeling which exist between members of the Ku Klux Klan and the Knights of the Flaming Circle, an anti-Klan organization.

KLAN IS DENOUNCED IN PARISH RESOLUTIONS.
Baton Rouge, La., September 20.—Governor Parker has made public contents of the resolutions adopted by a mass meeting of citizens of Jackson parish and forwarded to him by a resolutions committee charging a "super-government" has been established in Jackson parish, to the extent of "disrupting the judiciary and the machinery of the courts in such ways as to punish innocent persons while guilty ones go free and practically disfranchising the voters who are not in sympathy with the Ku Klux Klan."

The resolutions were signed by W. D. Jeffries, A. H. Colvin and R. L. Hardy as a committee appointed by the mass meeting to appeal to the governor for relief.

Governor Parker has not yet announced what action he will take.

CANNOT SUSPEND
RIGHT TO HABEAS CORPUS
Tulsa, Okla., September 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—Three men, held by the military officers after their conviction in civil court for participation in the whipping of a farmer, were released from military custody tonight.

District Judge A. C. Hunt today denied a writ of habeas corpus for the men, but in doing so stated the right of habeas corpus had not been overruled. The men are Ben and Grover Sikes and Earl Sack.

The men had been held by the military as witnesses under a stay of execution by Governor J. C. Walton, and were left in the jurisdiction of Adjutant General B. H. Markham.

The court ruled that the detention of the three principals by the military was neither "illegal nor unauthorized," and also declared that "the right of habeas corpus can not be suspended."

He added he believed Governor Walton's proclamation of martial law was not justified.

Seven More Indicted.
Within a few hours of the decision, word was received from Wagoner county that seven men against whom the detained trio were expected to testify had been indicted by the Wagoner grand jury, thus opening the way for the release of the convicted men to the civil authorities for commitment to the penitentiary. Those named in the Wagoner county return were: Arthur B. V. Venator, Hal Beaman, Dink Fisher, Harve Acers, Assistant Attorney General King, in his statement in behalf of the military, declared that the petition was to inquire into the legal authority of the guard forces to hold the three men, and Judge Hunt concurred in the view. The issue then became, he said, whether the military officers in Tulsa county were duly constituted authorities of the state, under law, which the court ruled to be the fact. It was then set forth in the decision that since the prisoners are in the custody of lawfully established agencies of the state, for a reasonable purpose, they should not be removed from such custody.

The response to the petition did not contend that the right of habeas corpus is suspended. It set forth that the men were held "by virtue of the authority vested" in the adjutant general under the proclamation of martial law. The three men were released from military custody tonight.

AGENTS WILL ADOPT
CLARKE FARM PLANS
Athens, Ga., September 20.—(Special.)—Adoption of a farm program for next year will be the purpose of a meeting of county agents from all over the state, at the State College of Agriculture here tomorrow, Dr. A. S. Soule, president, announced tonight.

The county agents, district agents and home economics agents will confer with experts and division heads of the college and with J. Phil Campbell, state extension head.

Following the adoption of the program, the agents will return to their counties and districts and hold district meetings at which time the program will be submitted to the farmers of the state.

RATE REVISION PLANS HALTED

Washington, September 20.—The interstate commerce commission today announced the suspension until January 18 of proposed rate changes on various railroad and less than carload commodity tariffs affecting practically every railroad south of the Potomac and Ohio rivers. An investigation of the schedules suggested and which were to have become effective tomorrow was ordered by the commission.

The suspended schedules proposed to cancel various less than carload commodity rates and to cancel all carload commodity rates to points where the carriers stated there has been no movement. They provided also for a revision in carload commodity rates where there is known to be movements, such revisions resulting in both increases and reductions from points in the southeast and Carolina territories to points in the eastern Mississippi valley territory.

The rate revision, it was said, would hinge on certain class rates affecting many minor commodities, which the commission has been investigating for application to the same territory. By suspending the changes suggested by the carriers, the commission now compels retention of present tariffs while it studies the benefits that may come from substitution of either new class rates or new rate applications on a commodity basis for carloads or less.

PEACE FAR AWAY AND STILL GOING

London, September 20.—Europe as viewed from outside No. 10 Downing street is a sad spectacle indeed, and is going from bad to worse, in the eyes of David Lloyd George, who in a 300-page book entitled "Is It Peace?" to be published September 28, reviews the whole ambit of the present European problems, the Ruhr predominating, and comments thereon in the vigorous style, replete with sonorous metaphor, which is characteristic of his writings.

The book is an amplification of the former premier's recent articles, with a preface in which the author says it has not been necessary for him to revise any of the estimates of the various situations he has made from time to time. He is convinced that peace has gone back perceptibly and unmistakably.

Up to 1922, says the ex-premier, each year after the end of the great war showed a distinct improvement over its predecessor, but "the present year has been one of growing gloom and menace; the international temper is distinctly worse all around."

Lloyd George says Europe's patched up peace pacts will leave the continent in a more precarious plight than ever, but he is still hopeful that the settlements will be left to the diplomats and not to the "gunmen."

Demands Full Publicity.

The Ruhr situation particularly receives the ex-premier's attention. He is confident that the program of his government forgetting reparations from Germany was the only one possible of fulfillment and he continues to demand full publicity for the British proposals submitted to the allied conference of August, 1922, which, he says, were substantially accepted by all the allies with the exception of France.

"Poincare refused to agree, and his refusal alone rendered the conference fruitless," says Lloyd George. "Over a year has elapsed since then. He has pursued a different policy, and so far it has brought him nothing. I am bold enough to predict that in the future it will bring France considerably less than the 1922 plan would have yielded."

"If Poincare is out for reparations, his policy will inevitably fail in comparison with that he so rashly threw over, but if he is out for trouble, he has been a great success and in the future it will be an even greater triumph for his statesmanship. The permanent garrison in the Ruhr has possibilities of mischief which it does not require any special vision to foresee."

Lloyd George's concluding sentences in the preface of the book are:

"Peace can only be restored by full recognition of equities as well as humanities—the humanities as well as the equities. I have sought in these pages to deal fairly with both."

STRIKE IN PROVINCE OF BADEN CALLED OFF

Berlin, September 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—The general strike which broke out early this week in several districts of Baden was called off today.

A Berlin dispatch yesterday said the government of Baden had proclaimed a state of emergency in consequence of the general strike at Freiburg and neighboring districts, due to the workers' dissatisfaction over their wages. Railway service and newspaper publication were suspended, meetings were forbidden and a curfew law was in effect.

June Bride Not Wed, Investigation Shows; Preacher Summoned

Asheville, N. C., September 20.—(Special.)—A supposed bride of June, worried over the absence of phrases on her marriage license certificate indicating "united in holy wedlock," "this day," etc., called on George A. Digges, Jr., registrar of deeds, today, in order to settle her disturbed mind.

Several times since June 9, the bride said, she and her avowed husband had looked at the certificate with a feeling that something had been left unsaid.

They distinctly remembered that the registrar of deeds made them hold up their hands and repeat "I do," but the assent was to the correctness of their ages, Mr. Digges explains. They supposed this was a marriage ceremony.

The June bride and the groom called a minister today and were quietly married according to Hoyle.

STIGALL THREATENED, WITNESSES TESTIFY

In the case, an immediate probe would be instituted by the government prohibition officers.

Since the day of the shooting, August 17, up until the present day of trial, charges and counter charges have been issued by both sides, alleged that the principals involved in the case had protected contraband in the city.

Claim Fear of Exposure.

The prosecution has emphasized its claim that Stigall feared exposure of alleged transactions with bootleggers in the city by Hames, J. H. Kirk and Ernest Stanton. The latter two were also wounded by Stigall in the fatal shooting at the corner of Houston and Courtland streets.

The state has sought to prove that Stigall suspected that the three men were planning to uncover his alleged operations several times before the day of the killing. Hames is declared to have gone to members of the police committee and told of instances where Stigall is said to have protected liquor interests in the city.

Miss Charlotte Williams, of Mr. Golding's office, has been present each day of trial recording the testimony of witnesses. Inspector Golding announced that he would have a complete transcript of evidence introduced in the Stigall case and if it tends to show violation of the federal laws by Atlanta officers, the government will take action to have the conspiracy will be pressed against them, he declared.

The presence of Miss Williams created a sensation around the press table in the court room. She refused to divulge the nature of her presence and it was only after a reporter for The Constitution had gone to Mr. Golding that her mission was learned. Mr. Golding said that Miss Williams would furnish him with all the testimony embracing liquor protection charges in the case.

"Frame-Up," Charged.

As the trial of E. C. Stigall charged with slaying W. H. Hames, drew to a close Thursday, Attorney William Schley Howard, counsel for the defense, endeavored to prove that Stigall had been a victim of a "frame up" and had shot in self defense, after Hames, Kirk and Stanton had advanced upon him. Witnesses for the defense were introduced who testified that Stanton had placed both his hands back of him as if to draw a weapon, and that Kirk and Hames made a similar move with one of his hands.

That the shooting of Hames, Kirk and Stanton on the corner of Courtland and Houston streets, the scene of the shooting, had been arranged for the sole purpose of "getting" Stigall, was charged at Thursday's session. A. Y. Tyler, of 42 Walton street, a barber, testified that he had overheard Kirk and Stanton talking in his barber shop on the morning of the day of the shooting. He declared that the spot of "getting" Stigall that night. The two men left the shop shortly afterwards, Mr. Tyler stated.

Walker Takes Stand.

A. A. Walker, 18 A. B. street, who said that he was employed in an auto repair shop, which is located about 30 feet from the corner where the shooting took place, took the stand for the defense. Walker, with G. S. Slaton, of 74 Houston street, were the first two eye-witnesses placed on the stand by the defense.

Walker testified that he had only been able to hear a part of the conversation that preceded the shooting. He declared that Hames had appeared enraged and "as white as a sheet," and was talking and cursing loudly, apparently at Stigall, whom he was facing.

Walker said that he walked down the street to another place of business after the shooting. In about five minutes he heard Hames shout: "What in the hell is going on? Did you do that?" Then Hames, Kirk and Stanton closed in on Stigall and Kirk and Stanton seemed to reach for guns, the witness declared. Stigall stepped back as the three men advanced upon him, Walker stated, and began firing.

Slaton's story of the shooting corroborated that of Walker. He stated that the three men "closed in on Stigall" as if to attack him, before the officer shot.

"Get Stigall Before Board."

"Kirk came in my place a little after four o'clock," Slaton said, "and asked me if I had anything to say against Stigall. I told him that I had not. He then declared that they were going to 'get' Stigall up before the board and then get his job. Kirk told me that if I knew anything that he wanted me to testify to it so that they could cause Stigall to lose his job."

"Kirk hadn't been there long before he went to the telephone. Judge from the conversation, he was talking to a Mrs. Hames. He told her he had 'everything fixed for tonight,' and that he would see her later. When he had given the number and the party on the other end of the line had answered he asked for 'Mrs. Hames. I have no other way of knowing that it was her.'"

Slaton stated that the three men advanced upon Stigall. He said Stigall retreated back one or two steps and began firing.

In cross-examination the witness Solicitor Boykin asked him if he had informed the officer that Kirk was over in that section getting evidence on him. Slaton said he had not done so.

"Witness Approached."

Mrs. T. P. Reese was called to the stand during the afternoon, and the defense tried to show that she had been approached by certain parties in the courthouse, who had attempted to get her to swear falsely on the witness stand. She declared that she had been approached, but she did not mention any names. Solicitor Boykin, in cross-examination, tried to prove that she had gone to Stone Mountain with Stigall to get a load of whiskey. She emphatically denied doing so.

Drove Stigall to Scene.

J. M. Wallace, of Lexington avenue, testified that he drove Stigall to the scene, and that he took him away after the shooting. He denied knowing why Stigall wanted to go to Courtland and Houston streets, where Stigall directed. He declared on cross-examination that he did not see Mrs. Dora Batty on the day of the shooting. The state sought to show that she had driven Stigall to the corner. Wallace denied this, saying that he had not seen her for several days prior to the shooting.

"Stigall got out of the car," Wallace testified, and began talking to the two men on the corner. I walked up the street to a cigar stand and bought a package of cigarettes. A third man walked up. The conversation got rough and then I heard Kirk say: 'Damn you, we'll get you now.' Stigall began firing then."

G. G. Williams, city detective, who was a member of Stigall's vice squad, was called to the stand. He was questioned by Mr. Howard relative to the manner in which the vice squad worked. He said that Stigall was never absent from the district long enough to go to Jackson street and North avenue to pilot any liquor car, as previously charged.

Just before court was recessed Thursday evening, Captain of Police A. J. Holcombe was called to the stand. He declared that he would not believe if Kirk on oath. Assistant Chief of Police E. L. Jett followed Captain Holcombe on the stand. He declared that Kirk's conduct had been such while he was employed on the Atlanta police force that he would be forced to discredit anything he might say. When asked if he would believe Kirk on oath Chief Jett declared that he would not.

In cross-examination Solicitor Boykin sought to prove that Chief Jett had a personal interest in the outcome of the trial. He tried to show that the assistant chief had sent two officers to bring witnesses to police station at Stigall's request. The witnesses were two negro women, Mattie Lester and Nellie Johnson. Chief Jett declared that Stigall had not asked him to summon the two women but that two officers came to him and made the suggestion. He sent these two officers, he declared. He could not say who they were.

State Rests Case.

The state rested its case at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. Alderman Jesse W. Armistead, chairman of the police committee, was called to the stand for the defense. Chairman Armistead testified that Hames had called at his office more than a month before the day of the shooting. Hames declared that Stigall was "bitter feeling against Stigall." Chairman Armistead declared. This statement was ruled out on objection from the state.

Chairman Armistead stated that on the day of the shooting Hames came to his office to complain about Stigall. Hames told him, Armistead stated, that he could prove on the following night that Stigall would "steer in" six trucks loaded with liquor to a place operated by Phelps on North Jackson street.

"Hames told me that Stigall and Reese were standing guard on the corner of Jackson street and North avenue and that the whiskey would be placed in the rear of Phelps' establishment. I told Hames that I did not believe Stigall was protecting Phelps and that I was convinced he was straight, because I had instructed Chief Beavers and Captain Sturdivant to arrest him the minute it was found that he was protecting liquor traffic."

Hames then declared that he was going to get Stigall tomorrow night, one way or the other.

Stigall's Exoneration.

When questioned regarding the police committee's exoneration of Stigall, Chairman Armistead declared that the committee had taken action after hearing from several witnesses who declared the officer shot in self-defense.

Mr. Armistead stated that he complimented Stigall on his marksmanship and congratulated him on the fact that he could protect himself against three men while on duty.

In cross-examination Chairman Armistead was questioned as to his motive in not questioning Hames after the shooting. Chairman Armistead answered that he had been told by Grady physicians that Hames was dead and he did not presume to question him.

Chairman Armistead declared that he knew that Stigall was "honest, trustworthy, courageous, daring and efficient as an officer." "I knew that he would not shoot except in self-defense," he declared.

Councilman Cooper and Beall took the stand just before Chairman Armistead and testified in defense of Stigall.

Denies Provocation.

R. L. Dixon was called to the stand during the early part of the day and testified that Hames had declared during the ride from the scene of the shooting to the hospital that he had been shot without provocation.

Fred Roberts, who lives near the scene of the shooting, was placed on the stand by the state, and testified that after the shooting Stigall had reloaded his gun.

Assistant Solicitor Ed A. Stephens was placed on the stand as the last witness for the state. He testified regarding the preparation of a map of the locality. The state rested after he was called from the stand.

The defense opened its case by calling Councilman J. A. Beall, a member of the police committee. He told of meeting Hames and Kirk on the street. Kirk approached him on the subject of being reinstated on the police force, he testified, shortly before he saw Hames. A few minutes later, he said, he met Hames, and told him that he had seen Kirk. Hames, he said, asked if he was going to reinstate Kirk. Mr. Beall said he told Hames that he was not.

He said that Hames then declared that Stigall was not "half the man Kirk was." Mr. Beall said that he replied to this remark saying that "you had better not tell that to Stigall or he will fix you for it."

Mr. Beall testified that Hames replied: "Stigall had better not follow me or I'll kill him like a snake."

Charge Against Stigall.

Councilman Cooper declared that Hames had complained to him two days before the shooting that Stigall was protecting bootleggers and that he wanted a chance to show the police committee that Stigall was crooked. Councilman Cooper said that Hames made no threats against Stigall in his presence and that he advised him to take the matter up with Mr. Armistead.

Testimony was introduced during the afternoon to show that many threats had been made against Stigall, both by Hames and Kirk to "get" Stigall. Policeman W. G. Whitley told of an incident when Kirk appeared before the grand jury as a witness against Stigall after the shooting and said to Whitley if he had known that Stigall had but one gun he would have killed him.

Mrs. Willie Hogan, of 20 Elliot street, told of a conversation she had with Kirk after a raid conducted at her home by Stigall, about three weeks prior to the shooting, at which time Kirk told her that Stigall had gotten his job and he was going to "get" him. Kirk declared that Stigall "was going to be missing some night," Mrs. Hogan declared.

"Swore to Get Stigall."

Jesse Jackson, a member of the police force, stated that while Kirk was under suspension he had been caught in a raid by Stigall, and that Kirk had sworn to "get" Stigall if he (Kirk) lost his job.

Patrolman H. J. Waters, testified that three months prior to the shooting Hames told him he would "get" Stigall as sure as his gun would fire. On cross-examination Waters stated that he did not mention this threat to Stigall until after the fatal wounding of Hames.

Numerous other witnesses were placed on the stand by the defense and in practically every case cited some instance where Kirk or Hames had threatened to "get" Stigall.

Testifies to Threats.

J. C. Mosely, a former partner of Stigall on the vice squad, was called to the stand by the defense early after the state had rested. He declared that he held several conversations with Hames in which the latter had issued threats against Stigall's life.

On cross-examination Solicitor Boykin asked Mosely if he had gone to "Shot" Marks, Johnny Marks or Johnny Gwin, a local taxi owner, in an effort to secure money to aid in defending Stigall. Mosely declared that he had not.

"Haven't you been spying on everybody connected with the case, including me?" the solicitor asked Mosely.

"No," the witness answered.

"Then explain why you were talking to a witness down on Houston street after I had finished talking to him."

"If you want to know, I'll tell you," the witness answered. "I want to talk to your witness. I want to see a man who belonged to the Ku Klux Klan, just like I do. Somebody said he was going to be run out of town, so I wanted to see him."

Mosely declared that he had carried $320 to Stigall in money raised by personal subscriptions for his defense. Most of it, he said, was his own money.

"Did you go to Sam Dougherty, a convicted bootlegger, and promise him if he would testify for Stigall that you would recommend him probation?" "No."

Friend For Years.

Mr. Boykin tried repeatedly to establish Mosely's interest in Stigall's side of the trial. He cited the fact that his wife had been with Mrs. Stigall during almost every hour of the trial. Mosely declared that his wife and Mrs. Stigall had been friends for many years.

Frank Senn, assistant superintendent of the Pinkerton Detective Agency, was called on the stand after R. O. Smith, an embalmer for Harry G. Poole, had described the wounds in Hames' back.

Senn declared that he had arranged with Stigall to meet him at 6:30 o'clock on the night of the shooting for the purpose of conducting a raid. The appointment, the witness testified, was made Tuesday, prior to the slaying on Friday.

Senn was asked if he had planned to go with Stigall to the vicinity of North Jackson street and North avenue. He declared that he had not. This was the location, according to testimony, where Hames had planned to catch Stigall in connection with protecting a bootlegging establishment.

J. B. Berry, a taxi driver, was called to tell of threats made by Kirk. He testified that he talked to Kirk August 15, two days before the killing, and that Kirk made the remark that Stigall had gotten his job and he was "going to get him."

It was indicated at the close of the trial Thursday that the defense would close its examination of witnesses Friday morning. Stigall will in all probability take the stand in his own defense Friday morning.

Girl Reserves Leave Today For Camp Highland Conference

The Y. W. C. A. girl reserves open their fall work with a setting-up conference to be held at the Y. W. C. A. camp at Highland. The conference begins this afternoon and closes Saturday evening. Attending will be cabinet members of the Y. W. C. A. girl reserve clubs of Atlanta's three high schools, Girls' High, Commercial High and Fulton High school. Others to attend will be Mrs. S. C. Williams, chairman of the Y. W. C. A. girl reserve department; Mrs. E. K. Large, chairman of the reserve clubs of the three high schools; Miss Lottie Angell, Y. W. C. A. girls' work secretary; Miss Daisy Ingram, associate girls' work secretary, and advisers of the high school reserve club.

Reserve officers and chairmen of the high school reserve clubs comprise the cabinet. The outstanding work of the cabinet at the Highland conference will be to work out for the Y. W. C. A. reserve department a tentative program for the fiscal year. The program will be submitted for approval to the girl reserve clubs in the city grade and high schools. Another feature of the conference will be organization of an inter-club council for all high school girl reserve clubs, the purpose of which will be to unify girl reserve work in the community and to act as a clearing house in matters that the girl reserves may undertake as a group.

Sings Matson, president of the reserves' club of Fulton High school, will serve as chairman of the Highland conference. She will preside at all meetings.

Following supper Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock, the reserves will give a series of stunts, to be followed by talks on "The Place of Singing in the Girl Reserve Program," by Miss Daisy Ingram, and on the Young Women's Christian association, of which the reserve department is a part, by Miss Lottie Angell. Mildred Wells, a reserve, will lead the evening's vesper service.

Saturday morning's program will be devoted to formation of the inter-club council. Discussions will follow on the purpose of the Y. W. C. A. girl reserve department, duties of cabinet and committee members and personal and club standards for reserves. Miss Angell will talk on the outlook of the reserve department for the fiscal year. Saturday afternoon will be devoted to committee discussions. Recreation will be featured during the entire conference as a part of each session.

It is of note that 350 reserves are in the city grade and high schools. The reserve program is for girls of teen age and is of a four-fold nature that appeals to the school girl, being in response to the spiritual, mental, physical and inspirational development.

The national Y. W. C. A. organized the girl reserve department during the world war and it was then that the school girl reserves through the associations of the United States were known as the nation's second line of defense. The reserve movement is a national one of which the Atlanta Y. W. C. A. reserve department is a part. The program of the Atlanta reserves is being followed in a general way by reserves in the associations throughout foreign lands. In fact it may be stated that the international Y. W. C. A. reserves encircle the world.

The following reserves will attend the Highland conference. From Fulton High school: Signe Matson, Charlotte Mable, Irene Wray, Elizabeth Hudson, Mabel Bernhardt, Zimena Liddell, Susie Ferrell; from Commercial High: Mildred Wells, Eileen Hillburn, Thelma Holbrook, Louise Cawthen, Ethel Conner, Nora Prunhorn and Malver Maille; from Girls' High: Mildred Kelly, Lillian Williams, Clara Stephens, Elizabeth Chapman, Elsie Davis, Louise Davis and Katharine Talbot.

Magical Beautifiers for Women

Women everywhere are trying all kinds of beautifiers, only to find that their efforts are transient. The first requisite of beauty is health. Without it the steps lag, eyes are lusterless, dark circles appear beneath them, the complexion becomes sallow, and almost invariably the underlying cause is some ailment peculiar to women. There is a very inexpensive remedy for this condition in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for nearly fifty years has been relieving women from some of the worst forms of female ills. Why not let it restore you to health and beauty and the joys of living.—(adv.)

Mutilated Body Of Cabaret Singer Discovered in Room

Los Angeles, September 20.—Detectives hinted, but not strongly, at the prospects of an early arrest in the slaying of Ethel Williams, a cabaret singer, 25 years old, who was found stabbed to death on the floor of her room in a lodging house late yesterday.

Both eyes had been blackened, her nose broken and in the mouth were a number of stab wounds, which, physicians said, might have been inflicted by a pair of scissors. Her body was nude, and asleep beside it was her two-year-old son.

CHAPTER LXXXIII.

Frank Carver Again.

As Gloria walked down Fifth avenue on the way to the Grand Central station to buy her ticket to Crossways, she felt as if she had already left the city. She still loved it, but she felt that she no longer belonged there, and she knew that she could never come back to it without a little heartache. The life she had led there with Valerie Eaton must always leave its mark, even if she had not known and loved Larry Gordon there.

Gloria bought her ticket for home, and was crossing the street to the taxi stand when Frank Carver confronted her.

"What are you doing here—running away?" he demanded.

"I'll be a long time till I come, I'm afraid," she answered. "I really don't mind, though. I don't want to stay in New York."

"Look here—won't you come to tea with me?" he asked, as if a sudden inspiration spurred him on. "I want to talk with you. Please, Gloria."

"All right, I'll come," she replied, rather diffidently. She'd have to kill time somehow till the following morning, when her train left. It didn't matter much what she did.

"The Biltmore's nearest," it was characteristic of him that he did not ask her whether she wanted to go there or not. "And I've only got a little while to spare." But once they were seated at one of the little tables, with the dance music drifting faintly to them across the corridor, he seemed embarrassed.

Gloria, watching a man and girl at a nearby table, did not care whether he talked or not. The girl was about her own age, she decided—a pretty thing, in her pale and faded-colored dress. She was twisting a ring set with a square diamond round and round on her engagement finger, and the young man, leaning toward her, was talking earnestly.

"So long till June," she heard him say, and wished her throat wouldn't feel so choky.

"Gloria, I'm awfully sorry for setting as I did yesterday," she turned to Carver again, astonished at his apologizing for anything. "The fact of the matter is that—well, you see, I didn't know who you were; didn't know that you were Gloria Schuyler Chase, you see—I supposed you were just some friend of Valerie Eaton's, and when she said something about your being one of the Schuylers, I—well, I thought probably that was just one of her little schemes. She worked awfully hard, you know, and never missed a trick. And, of course, if she could make people think that you belonged to the Schuyler family

Gloria bought her ticket for home.

"—well, it would lend her prestige, don't you see? Oh, Valerie was clever! Tricky as they make 'em to, and—"

"She is one of my best friends," Gloria interrupted, laughing.

"Yes, yes—of course! But what I was going to say was that when I heard that you were mixed up in this Brewer kidnapping case, and all I know about you was that you were a friend of hers, why—well, I didn't see just how I could step in and mix myself up in it. You understand, don't you? A man who's in the middle eye has to be careful."

"That still goes, of course, you know that," he reminded her. "I still want you to marry me, Gloria. I don't care what the world says. ## Blue and Grey Vets Watch Battle Drama of Civil War

New Market, Va., September 20.—

Following as closely as possible the movement of the opposing armies in the original battle of New Market, as that historic event is recorded in the tragic story of the civil war, the marine corps east coast expeditionary force and cadets of the Virginia Military Institute today reenacted the spectacle of 59 years ago, which checked the advance of Grant's army toward the Confederate capital at Richmond.

Bent with the years that have witnessed the reunion of a divided nation the gray haired veterans who followed Breckenridge and Sigel looked on today while the little fighting men of another age "fought" over the same ground where they once had struggled against musket, cannon and saber. Vivid memory recalled to these living remnants of the blue and gray the half-forgotten incidents of that memorable day when they defied the destructive machines of war and walked hand in hand with death.

Thousands of persons witnessed the reproduction of the famous engagement. Included in the throng were cabinet members, diplomatic and military representatives of several foreign countries, high officials of the army, navy and marine corps, members of congress, and men prominent in the public life of the nation. Hundreds of tourists found their way to the Shenandoah Valley for a glimpse of the sham battle.

A stream of automobiles poured into the battle area throughout the night and up to noon today. Practically every state east of the Mississippi river was represented.

Promptly at 1 o'clock a gun on Bushong's hill barked the signal of battle. The "federal force," represented by the main body of the marine expeditionary force, advanced from a point west of the Pennsylvania monument, where the line had been drawn up for the "attack." Sharpshooters aimed themselves with random shots as the two battle lines were forming.

Quickly the "federals" advanced to the attack. The "rebels" fired and the boom of cannon resounded through the valley. The battle was on. Above the din was heard the terrifying, "rebel yell" as the "Confederates," represented by the V. M. I. cadets and a small detachment of the marine force, launched their defense of the town.

Over the historic battle field where men fought and died in 1864, battle raged again. Shot, shell and saber aimed themselves with random shots as the two battle lines were forming.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Rich Gravy.

While corn starch is more expensive than flour, it makes a much smoother gravy when it has been added to a quantity of liquid, such as in stews and pot-roast.

Easy White Sewing.

If you do a great deal of sewing it will ease your arms if you place a pillow in your lap and put your sewing on it. The slight raise seems to be just what one needs.

Warmed-Up Roast.

When reheating the left-over roast in the oven wrap it in thickly greased paper and let it heat slowly in the oven. The meat will not get hard and dry as it does when reheated.

For a Change.

Slice off the tops of new potatoes, dig out some of the potato and place in the cavity a slice of butter and a lump of butter. Put back the tops of the potatoes with toothpicks and bake.

A New Button Box.

A wide-mouthed glass jar is a fine receptacle for buttons. One can find the contents from the outside and a great deal of searching is avoided when looking for a particular style of button.

Caterpillars Among Cotton Plants Prove Help.

Sparta, Ga., September 20.—(Special).—Farmers in the lower part of this county are reporting ravages from caterpillars in their cotton fields. In some instances they have completely stripped the plant of the leaves. This, the farmers say, is a good thing, as it will give the same old chance to get to the bottom of it and thereby save many souls of cotton which would have been punctured by the boll weevil. The cotton will now begin to open faster in this section, the farmers state.

What Women Wear

Fashion Takes Interesting Direction From the Button Box.

"Rich man, poor man, beggar man, thief. Doctor, lawyer, merchant, chief." Even the sophisticated girl of the present day will revert to the crudity of her neolithic forebears—when she has buttons on her frock. And she may even count on the ornamental buttons to show whether "she loves her or loves her not, to desperation, a little or not at all."

And for some reason or other buttons have come back into fashion—though buttons are neither Egyptian, nor Chinese, nor Persian, nor Russian.

Side of the tunic with buttonholes on the left. The tunic was closed to the knee, but left open below it. Lapping pearl buttons are seen on some of the new frocks. This is not a new idea, as the lapping of buttons made its appearance some dozen years ago, just before buttons as a decorative note went into abeyance.

House of Death. NO PLACE TO RAID, TO BE COMPLAINT.

New Orleans, September 20.—Members of the family of the late Lewis Shabbaro announced today that upon the return from New York of United States District Attorney Lewis H. Burns they would file formal complaint against local federal prohibition agents because of a raid the agents made on the home of Mr. Shabbaro one week ago tonight, during the period of mourning for his funeral, which took place the next day.

Amid Hail of Lead, Prohibition Officers Wreck Copper Still.

Asheville, N. C., September 20.—(Special).—In the face of bullets striking within four feet of them, Deputy Sheriff Tilden Dillingham and four special officers backed to pieces a large copper still at the headquarters of Haw branch yesterday.

While the officers wrecked the distillery plant, operators entrenched on the crest of a ridge about 800 yards away opened fire with high-powered rifles.

The first warning of the presence of the operators was in the form of a bullet which whizzed over the head of a few inches and ripped a small limb from a tree. With no cover available the officers went ahead with their work.

Projectiles began to plug the clay bank four feet from the officers, and continued to pepper a zone there without registering a wound. About twenty shots in all were fired.

Assisting Dillingham in his raid were Bill Garland, Norman Hyatt, E. K. Hensley and Fred Hampton.

THE HOUSEHOLD

Edited by Anne Rittenhouse

"It seems queer," comments a writer in an English magazine, "that people still pulley croquet—not only on the lawns of country personages, but in fashionable clubs. At Roehampton and they'll be playing for club championships. What is more, men play as well as women—and often better."

And, after all, croquet wasn't such bad sort of a game, and it had the great advantage that you could play it on your own lawn. In the days before the country club idea so thoroughly captured the minds of Americans, there were many ways of passing an idle hour within the confines of one's own hedge. Our children played at tether ball and we sometimes took an eager turn at the ball on a cord from the top of the pole. Then there was quoits—easily enough contrived from horseshoes and an iron stake in the days when the blacksmith shop was to the landscape what the garage is today. You might have to motor many miles before you came to a blacksmith shop now, but you can buy excellent quoits sets at the smart stores that will answer the purpose.

And in those days, too, there were far more private tennis courts than there are today, when we motor to the country club or the city park to play. There were many advantages about the games played in our own gardens, as the could for the entertainment of his own and other people's children—swings and some of the outdoor gymnastic apparatus, croquet, balls of various sorts, and, of course, the places for resting and lounging where a good imitation of the country-club glass of lemonade or ginger ale may be enjoyed.

PLAN TO PROTECT GEORGIA FORESTS TOLD BY LEADERS.

Savannah, Ga., September 20.—(Special).—At the De Soto, with the "Young Men's Dynamo" of the board of trade sponsoring the cause, the forestry leaders of the state today spoke on the necessity for plans for conservation of timber and for a system of reforestation. ## BEAUTY CHATS

AFTER A "GOOD CRY."

The good, hard cry that brings such emotional and nervous relief, too often brings sore, red eyes and a headache and a general feeling of looking like a fright. Yet, we all cry at times and we all hate to show it afterwards, so we should all know ways of concealing the trace of our tears.

Bathing the eyes and face in cold water will help a little, if nothing but cold water is handy. But holding a compress of hot water over the eyes is much better, because the heat soothes the nerves and brings fresh blood around the eyes and temples. And holding compresses of hot boracic water is best of all, for boracic is very soothing, indeed. A tablespoonful of the powder to a basin of water is enough, the compress should be any soft old cloth, a worn-out Turkish towel makes an ideal one.

Even this isn't always enough. Some women look like bright-eyed little birds when they cry, but most of them simply have inflamed eyelids and a red nose and look like the fright they feel. Try washing the eyeballs themselves by using an eye cup and warm or cold boracic solution, or else try cold, weak tea. Tea is splendid for this, it seems to soothe and stimulate, too. If you happen to have vanishing cream, rub a little around the eyes and the nose, wipe off well and powder thickly, powder even the eyelids. This covers up the stubborn shine that the skin takes after a long cry.

If you feel really nervously exhausted by a cry, take a hot bath, and a cup of hot strong tea, or coffee, though tea is better, and lie down. This will cure a headache, too. But the hot boracic compresses, followed by rinsing with cold water and tea in an eye cup, will quickly do the trick.

BUCK FLOWERS WATCHES TECH GRILLERS IN PRACTICE

Many Petrel Players Out on Account of Injuries

Coaches Give Injured Men Needed Rest; Carrol Shows Up Well in Early Workouts

Ed David Back at Old End Position and Will Probably Open Against Tech on September 29—Kilgore Is Playing Excellent Game.

BY BILL MORROW.
With several of the players favored to win berths on the Oglethorpe eleven answering the roll call on the sick squad, Coach Robertson did not check the Petrel's pace in the last year's scrimmage. The Petrel's pace in the last year's scrimmage was not so good as it is at larger institutions, and the injury of one or two mainstays puts quite a crimp in the Stormy Petrel.

Several candidates for Petrel honors were seen hobnobbing around following the scrimmage and it will be several days before some of them can be back at their old positions. Crowe, favorite to hold down one of the tackle berths, was watching the practice in "cuba," while Paris, fullback for the Petrel in '22, was also out on account of a bad leg. Several other players did not take part in the scrimmage, but were forced to confine their activities to a few laps around the field, and then hit for the showers.

The varsity and the scrubs put up a nice scrap for nearly an hour, and at the end of the time, neither team had accounted for a score. The varsity squad had charge of the ball the majority of the time, but did not seem able to account for any yardage gain when they had the ball within scoring distance.

No runs of any startling lengths were made and both teams confined their efforts in a vain attempt to pierce the line. Attempts to sweep around the ends were usually frustrated before the play gathered momentum and these attempts did not check up any noticeable gain.

Carrol, a newcomer to the Petrel fold, and a candidate for one of the ends positions, gave the best display of the afternoon and handled himself nicely. If he can keep up the fast pace that he has set, it is the remainder of the Petrel practice sessions, there is a great likelihood of his seeing service early in the Tech-Oglethorpe battle, scheduled soon.

Oglethorpe is well blessed with ends this season and the coaching staff will have solved quite a difficult problem when they decide on the flank combination.

David Is Back.
Ed David, bright star on Petrel combinations of the past two years, is back, and will no doubt open the Tech affair at his old position on one of the extremes of the line, and though competition is unusually keen should have very little trouble in holding down his old position. "Jug" Brown, captain of the Petrels for the '23 season, is also a candidate for an end and his experience, together

ARK. ELEVEN IN GOOD SHAPE

Little Rock, Ark., September 20.—With the first week of intensive training a matter of history in Arkansas football camps, and the first game of the season only two weeks off, players and fans throughout the entire state are getting their "fixing" in readiness for one of the hardest and most far-reaching campaigns in the history of the game in the state.

Besides the usual intercollegiate games in Arkansas, several of the teams have scheduled battles with heavy teams from other states. The most notable inter-sectional game is that of the Russellville Aggies with the Army at West Point November 10.

Reports from the Aggies' camp are especially optimistic and Coach E. O. Brown has been quoted in various general and specific terms as believing that he believes his "wonder boys" have a fine chance to bring home the scalp of the military aggregation.

Citizens of Russellville are backing the venture after the fashion of real sportsmen and are preparing to invade the east on a special train of four or five sleepers, which will leave Russellville November 6, making eighting stops at Washington and New York before the game on Saturday, November 10, at Niagara Falls, Detroit and Chicago on the return trip, reaching home November 15.

University Working Hard.
Reports from the training field of the University of Arkansas Razorbacks say that the squad is coming through its preliminary practice in good shape, and that although rainwater is being detained by a bad leg hurt in hurdlings, he will be in the line-up later. The old letter men are said to be in fine trim and Coach F. A. Schmidt's chief worry is in filling the places of Tackles Williams and Rusing, who had had three years' experience in their positions.

There are several likely candidates for the places and Coach Schmidt does not apprehend serious difficulty in finding capable successors to his former stars, it is said.

Word comes from all other camps that squads are swinging into their stride and the various coaches predict better teams than last year.

The inter-sectional grung stung the Little Rock high school team this year with the result that games have been scheduled with high schools in New Orleans, East St. Louis, Springfield, Mo., Birmingham and Dallas. The New Orleans and Dallas games will be played in those cities, while the other three big games will be played in Little Rock on November 10, 13 and 20, respectively.

SANGUINARY BATTLE IN BULGARIA REPORTED

Sofia, September 20.—Sanguinary fighting is reported from eastern Bulgaria, in central Bulgaria, where bands of communists attacked the police stations and barracks at Starazgora, Novozare, Tichirpan and two villages, with the object of liberating a number of their comrades arrested ten days ago. Troops were called out to disperse the communists.

Six communists were killed and six wounded at Starazgora and one soldier and a civilian spectator were injured.

London, September 20.—A slight earth tremor was felt yesterday in many of the parishes on the east of England, but apparently it was not noticed far inland. The time of the shock was 11:52 a. m. It was most clearly perceptible on upper floors of large buildings. Windows, bric-a-brac and china were shaken in numerous houses.

One suggestion was an explosion at sea, but nothing of this nature has been reported.

SLIGHT EARTH SHOCK IS FELT IN ENGLAND

With Reggie to call signals and run the ends and with Fitts to hit the line from the fullback position, the Purple and White backfield would have been in excellent shape, one to be feared by opposing lines, but now Coach Winkler has a difficult task before him in developing men to fill the vacant positions. Veritably a new backfield will have to be made, for the only letter man to return was not on the first string last fall. Several men from the scrub backfield last year are showing up well, however, and with the addition of a couple of new men the problem has been made materially easier.

The line, on the other hand, looks better than ever, and should more than make up for any backfield deficiency. Noyes, guard, Merriam, tackle, and Butler, half, were the other varsity men missing from scrimmage because of injuries. Although ragged, the coaches and coach is satisfied with the progress his men are making. Boys High will be ready when the season opens.

Tickets for Strib-McTigue Fight To Go on Sale Here

Pasteboards Can Be Secured From Chess's Place Beginning This P. M.; Place 200 on Sale.

Tickets for Georgia's own battle of the century, in Columbus October 4, with the lightweight championship of the world as the prize, Friday afternoon will be placed on sale in Atlanta, and quick disposal of the city's first quota is practically assured.

Only 200 of the pasteboards will go on sale today at Chess' Place, on Edgewood avenue—all of them ring-side seats at $5.50 per copy. This meager supply will be eaten up soon after the market opens, judging from the white heat interest manifest in the fight by Atlantans.

Not in many a day has a bout held in the south created so much nationwide interest. The east, west, middle west and south—every section of the United States—will send delegations.

New York city, Chicago, Philadelphia and St. Louis are sending in requests for reservations. Major J. Paul Jones of Columbus, in charge of the arrangements for the show, was in the city Thursday, and

Fitts and O'Dwyer Fail To Return to Boys' High

Coaches Face Difficult Problem of Developing Ground Gaining Machine This Season.

BY GORDON KEITH
It was definitely learned Wednesday that neither Fitts nor O'Dwyer would be back in school this year. This news was certainly disappointing to the followers of Boys' High football activities, and will be a great handicap to the team. The squad had counted on seeing both these men back in harness again after last year's disappointing loss, but now Coach Winkler has a difficult task before him in developing men to fill the vacant positions. Veritably a new backfield will have to be made, for the only letter man to return was not on the first string last fall. Several men from the scrub backfield last year are showing up well, however, and with the addition of a couple of new men the problem has been made materially easier.

The line, on the other hand, looks better than ever, and should more than make up for any backfield deficiency. Noyes, guard, Merriam, tackle, and Butler, half, were the other varsity men missing from scrimmage because of injuries. Although ragged, the coaches and coach is satisfied with the progress his men are making. Boys High will be ready when the season opens.

Coach Winkler calls the scrimmage just before quitting time each day, when the sun has gone down and after the players have brushed up on their tackling and signals. In Thursday's struggle the scrubs were given the services of a dummy that far, but attempted to rush it all over and around the first string men, who were laboring under Coach Winkler's direction.

All attempts at end runs resulted in losses, Captain Langford, at left end, regardless of which flank the attack was directed at. The other end, Hill, is out with a bruised shoulder. And Noyes, guard, Merriam, tackle, and Butler, half, were the other varsity men missing from scrimmage because of injuries. Although ragged, the coaches and coach is satisfied with the progress his men are making. Boys High will be ready when the season opens.

Former All-Southern Half Says Team Should Develop Into Strong Aggregation

Acts as Referee in Tilt Between Varsity and Scrubs—Frank Harris Makes Sensational Run in Scrimmage.

BY JOHN STATON.
"Buck" Flowers came back to see us yesterday after an absence of two years. He has spent those two years in the employ of the W. T. Grant company in their store at Tampa, Florida.

Buck refereed the scrimmage yesterday, and incidentally got an eye-ful of the 1923 Yellow Jacket team in action. When questioned concerning the team, Buck said: "I see no reason why Tech should not have as good a team as usual this year. Maybe the material is not as good, but the work which the fellows are putting in each afternoon will overcome that. Look at 1919. We had the best material that year we ever had, and on one of the sorriest teams, too." There are a great many of us who feel like Buck.

The appearance of Buck on the field brings back visions of a glory that was his in 1920. That year he added to his national reputation as a halfback, and by the close of the season was recognized as one of the super players of the last ten years.

The usual scrimmage was good in a way, and then not so good when viewed from another angle. Defensively, the varsity played pretty good ball. Especially in the center of the line was the defense air tight. The varsity guards, MacIntyre and McConnell, played up to old form, and the scrubs line into a knot consistently.

The scrub defense was not up to standard, and the varsity scored frequently, not due so much to their own superiority on offense, but rather on account of the apparent weakness of the scrubs line.

Frank Harris pulled off the prettiest play of the afternoon, and one of the best seen on the field for a long time. He was aided in his run by good interference, too. Frank started on a short end-run around the right side of the line. The full-back took out the end, and Frank sped on to the secondary defense, cutting back as he went on. As he passed the second backer-up with a deft twist of his hips, he was picked up by Fleetwood. They paced each other for about five yards. Then Fleetwood downed the side-back. Frank side-stepped the safety, and ran on for a touchdown, unmolested. The length of the field traversed was about sixty yards.

Frank is developing into a brilliant player, and ran on for a touchdown in the second game. He is bound to be heard from this year, and you may be sure it will be a loud noise. Frank is an Atlanta product, born and raised here. He attended school at Tech High, and played half-back there. He entered school in 1920.

McIntyre Is Injured.
Captain John McIntyre got a pretty bad rap in the scrimmage yesterday, and may be out of the running for three or four days. This injury business is becoming a trifling serious, for the Oglethorpe game is less than two weeks off.

"Molly" Williamson, the giant of University School for Boys, has probably lost his chance to play on the freshman team. He was worn down yesterday and had his right knee placed in a cast. The bone was broken just behind the toe. He was injured about a week ago, but at that time it was thought that he had only suffered a sprained ankle. But his foot refused to heal, and continued to swell. An X-ray examination yesterday revealed that the bone was broken, and that the bone was broken just behind the toe. He was injured about a week ago, but at that time it was thought that he had only suffered a sprained ankle. But his foot refused to heal, and continued to swell. An X-ray examination yesterday

UNDECIDED ON REFEREE

Judging by the unusually heavy demands that have been made upon the promoters of the one Hundred and Eight cavalry for seat reservations, the 10-round decision bout between Joey Fox, featherweight champion of Great Britain, and Lew Silver, of Atlanta, undoubtedly the best boy of his division in the south, the fans are not going to miss this fight treat, which will take place at the auditorium Tuesday night.

To enable the rabid fans to secure choice seats for the franks the promoters have put the seats on sale at the following places: Chess' Rex, Elliott's parlors, Oglethorpe restaurant, and with Bill Kaliska, at the Jacobs' store, 111 Peachtree street.

Undoubtedly one of the largest fight crowds that has visited the auditorium for some time will be on hand to see these little gladiators boxing leather. The bout is unquestionably one of the best arranged to take place here in some time.

One important detail has to be adjusted before the mill comes off. This is the selection of a referee. The several names of officials that have been tendered to Max Abelson, manager of Silver, has not met with his approval, so it was decided to await the arrival of Charley Harvey and Fox, who are expected here some time tomorrow, before this important question will be settled.

Abelson does not intend to have an incompetent third man in the ring to render a verdict. Max fully realizes that this is one of the most important bouts that Silver has ever participated in, and he intends to safeguard the interests of Lew to the best of his ability.

CRACKERS DROP LOOSELY PLAYED GAME TO MEMPHIS

Three Local Hurlers Fail To Halt the Chick Sluggers; Will Play Nashville Today

Morrison Sent to Showers Early in Game, While Tuero and Camp Are Both Used. Score 14 to 3—Home Runs Feature.

MAKES RECORD. Memphis, Tenn., September 20. Walter Howard ("Slim") McGraw, Memphis pitcher, established what is said to be a Southern association record for the season when he completed his 35th consecutive inning today without allowing a score. McGraw's string of scoreless innings was broken in the fifth inning of today's Memphis-Atlanta game, when two Cracker players crossed the plate.

The strain of getting into the third place in the Southern league standing was too much for the Crackers, or rather too hard on the Atlanta pitching staff, and Thursday afternoon Atlanta lost a golden opportunity to land on the third rung of the ladder, when Memphis drove three Atlanta pitchers to the showers, for a total of 20 safeties, including four home runs, two triples and one double, all of which netted 14 runs. Atlanta scored three runs, the final score being 14 to 3.

The Memphis team, which has been playing sensational baseball during the past two weeks, continued to do good work, but Thursday afternoon Chick bats rang out probably louder than at any other time during the recent winning streak. The Chick pitchers' parade of Wednesday afternoon was changed into a Cracker march of Thursday. Manager Miller used three pitchers, two of whom were hammered unmercifully by Memphis.

Phil Morrison, who has been getting his bumps of late, except for the last Little Rock game, which was thrown out by President Martin, of the Southern league started on the mound for the Crackers, but fell the victim of a heavy Memphis attack in the first, second and third innings.

Padgett Gets Homer. Padgett greeted Phil with a home run to left center on the first ball pitched. Phil then settled down and prevented any further scoring in the initial stanza, but in the second inning, he was hit for a home run by a deep center for a trip around the bases. Two infield taps and a walk filled the bases, but some good work on the Cracker infield prevented any other scoring in that inning. The finish of Phil in the third inning: Taylor tripled to start, and scored on an infield out. Vick hit one to center for his second home run and Tuero was called into action by Manager Miller.

Tuero pitched fairly good ball until he gave way to a pinch hitter in the seventh inning. Camp who finished the game for Atlanta, pitched his usual bad inning, giving up seven hits for a total of eight runs in the eighth inning. In that inning, Miller came to bat with the bases loaded and he was the only Chick player that had not been credited with a safety. He very promptly hit one to deep center field for a home run, scoring three runners ahead of him.

McGraw Hits Well. "Dangerous" Dan McGraw started on the mound for the Chicks and allowed only one scratch hit until the fifth when Atlanta scored two runs off three hits. One of the runs was the gift of Dan who threw one hit past Catcher Tate. In the sixth inning McGraw ran over to cover first base on an infield play and collided with Joe Guyon. Both players rolled over back of first base and when "Dangerous" was put up by Joe he had a bad leg. He limped back into the pitcher's box but John Dobbs sent Mitchell to the firing line.

FRESHMEN ARE GIVEN TRIAL

Auburn, Ala., September 20.—(Special.)—Freshmen, rats and new students by the scores, more than a hundred—111 to be exact—answered Coach Kirk Newell's first call for candidates for the freshman teams. The opening practice was somewhat delayed on account of some of the equipment not being received on time, but the regular workouts are now under way and more than half a hundred are equipped and seen with their squads each afternoon actively engaged in the rugged pastime. Another half hundred are looking on and getting in whatever workouts possible without uniforms, while they wait for equipment and the call to arms. Every effort will be made to give each contestant an opportunity to display his football prowess.

Many climes are represented by those coming out, Alabama, of course, leads in the representation, but Georgia, Florida, Mississippi and Tennessee are on hand with fine contingents. Georgia probably leads in out-of-state representation, from Carrollton, Ga., come three likely looking fellows, Earl Robinson and W. O. Perkins, linemen, and Hank Phillips, back. In addition to Carrollton's trio of huskies the list includes E. A. Pruitt, former Tech Hi star; George Evanson, Newnan; Henry Edwards, Cedarhurst; J. F. Shambolin, Darlington prep star, and Dick Wallace from West Point.

Chicks Score First. The scoring in brief: Padgett's homer netted Memphis one in the first inning. Vick's homer added another in the second. Taylor's triple, an infield out, Vick's second homer, Tate's single and Clark's error netted three in the third inning.

McGraw's single, Padgett's single and Herman's sacrifice netted one in the sixth. In the eighth with Camp pitching for the Crackers, Tate tripled, Mitchell singled, Padgett was hit by a pitched ball, Camp's, Herman's and Taylor's singles with Lamotte's out, Vick's walk and Miller's home run with the bases filled netted 8 runs for Memphis.

Atlanta scored two in the fifth inning. Reinhardt singled to start. Niehaus flied out. Ring doubled to left. Reinhardt hit to third. Reinhardt scored and Ring took third on a wild pitch. Brock's single through short scored Ring. In the eighth with Mitchell pitching, Barber walked. Clark forced Barber at second. Reinhardt was safe on Lamotte's error. Niehaus singled to third. Clark scored and Ring took third on a wild pitch. Brock's single through short scored Ring. In the eighth with Mitchell pitching, Barber walked. Clark forced Barber at second. Reinhardt was safe on Lamotte's error.

Choosing Papyrus' Opponent Race Is Proposed Between Zev, Derby Winner, and Admiral Grayson's "My Own" to Decide Question.

New York, September 20.—The extravagant quibbling over the hay, water and air to be consumed by Papyrus before the owner of the British three-year-old champion would finally consent to let him run in the United States, may now be outdone in the selection of the Kentucky derby and other great races, is popularly regarded as the American three-year-old champion, although Zev has been defeated. Admiral Grayson owns My Own, a three-year-old, which has not been beaten, and which is regarded by a large number of race devotees and expert horsemen as a better horse than Zev.

Harry Sinclair, millionaire oil man, owner of Zev, is one of the most powerful men in American turf affairs, his horse having won the Kentucky derby and other great races, is popularly regarded as the American three-year-old champion, although Zev has been defeated. Admiral Grayson owns My Own, a three-year-old, which has not been beaten, and which is regarded by a large number of race devotees and expert horsemen as a better horse than Zev.

Unable to choose between Zev and My Own, especially as Zev was reported to have cast a froz in one hoof in winning the Realization, the horsemen charged with the duty of selecting the American champion welcomed a proposed match race at Aqueduct on September 20 for $20,000.

GREB CAN LICK CHAMP, SAYS JESSE WILLARD Phoenix, Ariz., September 20.—Jesse Willard, vanquished by Luis Angel Firpo as a contender for the heavyweight boxing championship in their match recently at New York, expressed the opinion here today that Harry Greb, middleweight champion, "is the only boxer who has a good chance to win a decision over Jack Dempsey today."

The former champion, who is en route to Los Angeles from New York, where he saw the Dempsey-Firpo bout, said that he believed Greb's peculiar style of fighting would baffle Dempsey.

Willard asserted that Dempsey defeated Firpo fairly in their contest last Friday at New York.

Atlanta Golfer Will Meet Woman's National Champion In Semi-Finals of Tourney

Atlanta Star Wins From Mrs. Harold Hutchings 3 and 2 in Thursday's Play—Mrs. Gavin Will Play Mrs. Hope Gibson.

Mount Bruno, September 20.—Superiority on the greens today advanced two American players to the semi-finals of the Canadian ladies open championship. Miss Alex Stirling, of Atlanta, defeated Mrs. Harold Hutchings, of Winnipeg, 3 and 2, and Miss Glenna Collett, of Providence, R. I., bested Mrs. D. C. Hurd, of Hamilton, Ontario, 5 and 4.

Mrs. Gavin, of England, defeated Miss Meahan, of Philadelphia, 4 and 3, and Mrs. Hope Gibson eliminated a fellow Canadian, Miss Ada MacKenzie, of Winnipeg, 1 up in a hard-fought match. Mrs. Hurd is thus the sole Canadian player to reach the semi-finals, with one English woman and two Americans.

The match between Miss Stirling and Mrs. Hutchings was full of interest. The Winnipeg player, while handicapped by a weak wrist, put up a strenuous fight for the first 12 holes and then wearied. Miss Stirling started off poorly, topping her drive into the ditch. Mrs. Hutchings drove straight 220 and took the hole easily. Miss Stirling found the rough with her second drive, but made a brilliant recovery, halving the match. The third and fourth holes were also halved. Miss Stirling was gradually finding her stride. She took the fifth but missed a putt on the 6th.

The fourteenth tee was short. Mrs. Bradley failed to take advantage and the hole was halved with fours.

BOBBY JONES, LOW MEDALIST IN MEET Continued from Page 20. while the best Von Elm could do was par. He lost this advantage immediately, however, when his iron was short on the 31st and he took four to Von Elm's par three. They halved the next hole in par and then Outimet took two holes in a row with par four when Von Elm took an extra putt on each green. Dormie took Outimet halved the 35th in par and won, 2 and 1.

Marston Wins Match. Marston, who yesterday, by shooting one under four for 35 holes, eliminated Bobby Jones, open champion, after passing the half-way mark on the next hole, took an extra putt on the 31st and he was forced to take six to Wells' five.

Then both were wide of the green on the next hole, and Marston, playing in a coil of hose, and they halved in four. On the 552-yard first Marston shot a birdie four for a win and on the next were each one over par. Wells had trouble with his wood on the 24th and also took an extra putt for a six to Marston's par four and the match was even.

An extra putt on the 25th for Wells enabled Marston to get a lead and when Wells was short on his approach at the 27th Marston increased the advantage to two up with a par four. Wells was one over par on each of the next three holes, and Marston, playing them perfectly, was five up. Marston was in the woods on the short 31st and when his recovery was poor he conceded the hole to Wells' par three. Marston dropped the 32nd hole to Wells' birdie three, but won the 33rd hole and the match with a birdie three, 4 up and 5 to 10.

Gardner Forced to Limit. Gardner had to shoot close to par golf in the afternoon to maintain his lead of six to Stuart. An extra putt on the 31st and he was short on his approach at the 27th Marston increased the advantage to two up with a par four. Wells was one over par on each of the next three holes, and Marston, playing them perfectly, was five up. Marston was in the woods on the short 31st and when his recovery was poor he conceded the hole to Wells' par three. Marston dropped the 32nd hole to Wells' birdie three, but won the 33rd hole and the match with a birdie three, 4 up and 5 to 10.

COAL COMMISSION

COAL COMMISSION CITES FUEL LOSS

Washington, September 20.—Bitu-revious coal lost to consumption equals nearly thirty-five per cent of the possible total annual production the coal commission reported to President Coolidge today after an exhaustive survey. The commission listed 19.4 per cent as "available" loss and 15.3 as arising from causes which normally could not be obviated.

The survey was confined to producing states of the Mississippi because of inadequate field forces to undertake a comprehensive survey of the entire bituminous area. The states covered produced 368,500,000 tons in 1921 or 90 per cent of the national production. Compared with this, the commission declared, 196,000,000 tons were lost, listing the following as "causes responsible for avoidable losses."

lessness and bad engineering even in carrying out these faulty methods: careless cleaning of coal at tipples and in mines; excessive blasting; poor transportation methods; leaving pillars to hold roof instead of backfilling; using coal for ballasting tracks; working in mines without adequate "sights" with the result that much coal is passed.

Big Range to Losses.

By states, the losses ranged from 29 per cent in Virginia to 49 per cent in Illinois, the aggregate being estimated to equal the total annual output of the states of Illinois, Alabama, Indiana and Virginia.

"It is well known," the report pointed out, "that temporary cessation of work caused by strikes, by the mining system involved, or by the demand, results in general deterioration of timbers and gradual collapse of workings, many of which are never reopened. A large operator in Tennessee attributes fully half the coal lost in that state to strikes."

With regard to national coal reserves, which the commission was instructed to investigate, the report declared it had nothing to add to the recent estimate made by the Geological Survey. This placed the remaining

The commission summarized the production and losses in the states investigated as follows: Alabama production 12,600,000 tons, loss 6,150,000 tons, of which 3,370,000 tons was avoidable, Illinois production 69,000,000 tons, loss 66,900,000 tons, avoidable 40,550,000 tons, Indiana production 20,000,000 tons, loss 15,800,000 tons, avoidable 10,000,000 tons.

630,000; loss 14,000,000; avoidable
5,380,000. Maryland production 8,280,000; loss 808,000; avoidable 328,000.
Ohio production 31,900,000; loss 21,300,000; avoidable 13,740,000. Pennsylvania production 118,000,000; loss 46,400,000; avoidable 25,100,000. Tennessee production 4,400,000; loss 1,480,000; avoidable 770,000. Virginia production 7,500,000; loss 1,870,000; avoidable 467,000. West Virginia production 72,800,000; loss 21,500,000;

Atlanta's Traffic Conditions

Present One of Her Most Pressing and Important Problems.

We are glad to note that the traffic committee of the council is to meet today to seek a solution of it.

Several prominent citizens have urgently advocated the establishment of "One Way Streets" as a vitally needed measure, and we heartily endorse this suggestion as we believe this is essential to the proper handling of the situation and that complete relief will not be secured without it.

We sincerely trust that the matter will be pursued until a system, the best that thought and experience can devise, will be provided not only for the Atlanta of today, but for the bigger and better one that is surely coming.

In the meantime, proper observance of existing laws is absolutely necessary for the safety and welfare of all concerned.

May not each one of us do his part to bring this about?

Fifth District Clubwomen
Will Fight Garbage Project

BY MRS. McCORD ROBERTS.

Lithonia, Ga., September 20.—(Special.)—Garbage collection in Atlanta proved a prime subject in Lithonia on Thursday. Probably because when housekeepers get together they find that time and distance do not affect housekeeping problems, else how account for the burst of applause which greeted the resolution framed by Atlanta women at the regular September meeting of the Fifth District Federation of Women's Clubs presided over by Mrs. Albert Akers. This resolution read: "Be it resolved that the Fifth District Federation in meeting assembled express its hearty disapproval of the movement now pending in the city council of Atlanta to place all garbage cans on front pavements for the purpose of collection therefrom by city garbage collectors. And be it resolved, furthermore, that all club women of Atlanta and all their friends be urged to attend the meeting of sanitary committee of city council on Monday afternoon next to protest this vital attack on the civic health and beauty of the capital city of our state."

Seldom does a resolution in a Fifth district meeting cause such a furor and rarely does this decorous body exhibit such animation and enthusiasm. Lithonia, Conyers, College Park and Clarkston women were unit in backing their Atlanta sisters in preserving the sightliness of front yards and the protection of the city's health and beauty from a requirement uniformly regarded by the delegates as practically impossible to comply with.

Of statewide interest was the decision voiced by the Fifth district not to formally endorse any candidate as a district candidate for the position of director for Georgia in the general federation of women's clubs.

Endorsement of Mrs. B. M. Royle, Mrs. Nichols Peterson, of Tifton, and Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, of Clarkston, were given by Mrs. Akers. Mrs. Royle's name was put in nomination by Mrs. Spencer Atkinson, seconded by Mrs. Murray Howard, president of the West End Women's club. Mrs. Peterson was nominated by Mrs. McCord Roberts. Mrs. Richardson was nominated by Mrs. Norman Sharn and several members of the Atlanta Women's club executive board.

Tallulah Falls Industrial school held its customary place of first consideration at the district meeting. Speaking in support of this school is familiarly called, Mrs. John Wing O'Leary, who is the principal of the school. She is a native of Tallulah and also the crafts editor, arranged for the biennial and nationally held by the Fifth district women. Speaking of the present status of the Pinnacle Mountain school farm plant, Mrs. O'Leary said: "By the gift of Mrs. Kellum, this school opened on September 17, with a completed facility. One building is completed and the second will be ready for occupancy in about three weeks. This is the home building and is much like the Mary Ann Lipscomb cottage at Tallulah. The entire equipment of the best character for both these buildings has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Kellum, who are lending these cows to the school. The school is now under the plan of greater Tallulah, Pinnacle Mountain school is to be offered to Georgia Federation of Women's clubs as a free gift, to be used as the school farm unit of the Tallulah Falls Industrial school.

To Correlate Work.

"Under this plan, Mrs. Davis would supervise this school as well as the original unit at Tallulah Falls and the work of the two units of Georgia Federation of Women's clubs would be coordinated. The Federation accepts this offer, it will be the largest gift ever made to a state federation, and will open to the state a new era of service, serving its youth and generation on cramped and limited means an opportunity for a broader usefulness, and a more complete service to Georgia. Mrs. Davis will regard as the just reward of the devotion to the cause of education our federated women past and present."

Kirkwood Civic league followed Mrs. O'Leary with a plan for furthering Tallulah, presented by Mrs. L. Casper, president of the league. Joseph Smith, president of the league. The plan called for formation of Tallulah circles in honor of the young sons and daughters of federated women who feel the urge to assist in this splendid work. Federated women everywhere were urged by Mrs. Casper, president of the league, to communicate with Mrs. Casper, or Mrs. Smith, for details concerning this interesting and easy way. An immediate response was given by Mrs. Marie Cason, who promptly sent word that she "had no children to form circles for, she would do so in the interests of her ten grandchildren."

Certificates for these junior circles for Tallulah may be obtained from Kirkwood Civic league at wholesale cost.

Mrs. Spencer Atkinson was elected by the Fifth district as a member of the state nominating committee at the state convention to be held in Rome in October.

Forrest Aid Asked.

Miss Alice Baxter stressed the importance of forestry conservation and urged the necessity of reporting to state chairman whether much or little has been accomplished.

Memorial service was conducted by Mrs. Charles Robertson in memory of Mrs. Albert Blanchard. Mrs. John Simmons, Mrs. DeForest Wood and Mrs. Sarah Reed.

The value of the work being done by Mrs. Murray Hubbard under the title of junior third service was highly commended by Mrs. Akers. Mrs. Charles Goodman spoke strongly in favor of continued effort on the part of the club women to secure for Georgia the benefits of the Shepard-Tower bill, and supporting speeches were made by Mrs. K. L. Turman and Mrs. Charles Robertson.

Mrs. Samuel Inman, director for Georgia, sent the following telegram which was read to the assembly: "Greetings to the Fifth district. Regret not being with you. Hope club will make contribution to general federation headquarters in full-grown of Georgia. Many have contributed to Georgia. It should. It would be inspiring to report at convention every per capita club in Georgia having contributed to the benefits of the Shepard-Tower bill, and supporting speeches were made by Mrs. K. L. Turman and Mrs. Charles Robertson."

Invitation to hold the next meeting in Clarkston as guest of the Clarkston Civic league, which owns its own club house and a very large body of Georgia women, was accepted by the president, and the meeting closed with resolutions of thanks to the two Lithonia clubs which had handsomely entertained the meeting.

MONEY IS LACKING
FOR KINDERGARTENS

With overflow attendance at three grammar schools and no money in sight to provide additional housing, five new bond issues schools ready for concrete layings and no money for equipment or hire teachers, the building and finance committee of the board of education has been in almost continuous session all week in an effort to find ways and means.

"I know how the old woman felt who lived in a shoe," W. L. McCulley, chairman of the committee, said Thursday in discussing the school situation.

Four attendance officers Thursday were engaged in rounding up children of school age who are not enrolled under the state compulsory attendance law and their work will increase the congested condition.

The attendance officers are M. E. Coleman, head of the department of attendance and census; Miss Frances G. Russell, Miss Susie DeSaussure (overseer) and the colored officer, Marie Finch.

Members of the finance committee will meet in conference again Friday in an effort to find a solution for these problems.

The cornerstones for which money is lacking are needed at Joel Chandler Harris John B. Gordon, English avenue, William A. Bass and Faith schools.
